HENRY ERNEST WOODS, A.M.

By Henry Winchester Cunningham, A. B., of Milton, Mass.

Henry Ernest Woods, so long an active member of this Society and for so many years a worker in the field of New England history and genealogy, died suddenly of heart trouble at the Hotel Weldon at Greenfield, Mass., 11 October 1919, while on the performance of his duties as State Commissioner of Public Records.

The son of Henry Thayer and Ellen (Thayer) Woods, he was born in Boston, at the home of his grandfather, Elijah Thayer, 181 Salem Street, 5 June 1857,* and was descended through both his father and mother from a long line of New England ancestors. His father, a wholesale dry-goods merchant of Boston, had come from the town of Groton, Mass., where he was born in 1830, and descended from the well-known Woods family of that town through Henry[6] (1802–1841) and his wife Hannah Maria Thayer of Hollis, N. H., Col. Samson[5] (1760–1826), a Revolutionary soldier of Pepperell and Groton, and his wife Alice Tarbell, Brig. Gen. Henry[4] (1733–1804) of Groton and Pepperell, an officer in the French and Indian Wars, the Revolution, and during Shays's Rebellion, and a general in the militia, and his wife Deborah Parker, Isaac[3] (1700–1775) of Groton and his wife Abigail Stevens, Nathaniel[2] (1668–1738) of Groton and his first wife Eleanor ———, and Samuel,[1] the earliest ancestor in America, who was born about 1636 and moved with his wife Alice Rushton to Groton in 1662, where he was an original proprietor. Mr. Woods's mother was of the well-known Thayer family, descending from the emigrant Thomas Thayer or Tayer, who was at Braintree, Mass., before 1639.

Harry Woods, as he was familiarly known to all his friends, grew up in Boston, and was a student at Chauncy Hall School from 1865 to 1875, going to the School when it was still located in Chauncy Street, and fitting for Harvard, where he would probably have been a member of the Class of 1881; but at the time he was not in robust health, and trouble with his eyes obliged him to give up all idea of going to college. For a brief time he took a position in a wholesale boot and shoe house, starting at the bottom and expecting to make business his life work; but in a few months his health obliged him to stop work, and he crossed the Atlantic and spent a long time journeying through England, Scotland, and other parts of Europe. On his return home he began again in the same business in January 1877, and remained in it for several years.

Previous to his European trip he had, in the winter of 1871–2, made a voyage to Cuba, and from there across the Gulf to New Orleans, thence to Florida, and up the Atlantic coast. In fact, as he wrote in 1880, he had for the previous ten years scarcely for a year missed a journey in some direction, even if it was only a vacation trip, and for several years at this period he passed a part of each summer at Kennebunkport, Me., and took an active part in the summer life there, serving for a long time as honorary secretary of the little casino.

These trips during his early life, most of them taken for the benefit of his health, interfered with the continuous progress of his school life. But he had many inborn talents and a natural inclination towards an artistic and literary life, and he gradually turned his attention to this work, at first as an amateur; then, as his interest and his ability developed, he became, perhaps before he fully realized it, for he was ever modest as to his accomplishments, so well equipped that there were few in his lines so well fitted to pursue the work as a profession.

To those who knew him only in his late years, when he was busy with New England records, it may be a surprise to know how clever he was with his pencil, and that for several years he was a more or less regular contributor to Life; and this artistic touch continued in his neat and characteristic handwriting and in the clear and attractive way in which he made a genealogical chart, and, quite likely, it influenced him in his study of heraldry.

He joined this Society 5 May 1880, then in his twenty-third year, becoming a life member in 1902; and he soon began to take an active interest in its work, contributing to the Register in 1883 an article on the English ancestry of the Thayers, his mother's family, at Thornbury in Gloucestershire, and a few years later a review of an English genealogical book.*

In 1888 he became a member of the Committee on Heraldry, and continued as such till 1910, serving many years as its chairman; and, in the annual report which he made in December 1898 and which was adopted by the Society at the following annual meeting, he took a strong position on the proper and improper use of coat armor by Americans, a position that received much commendation at home and abroad. From a long study he became well-versed in heraldry, probably as much so as anyone in the community, and was often consulted and gave freely of his advice to those in search of the true interpretation of a coat of arms. He had little patience with professionals who were too ready to make up arms for anyone,

*He was also the author of Some Descendants of Digory Sargent of Boston and Worcester, Mass., a brief genealogy which appeared in the Register of October 1904 and was afterwards reprinted, of The Woods Family of Groton, Mass., published in the Register in 1910 and reprinted, and of several other short productions; but most of his literary work was editorial or consisted of reports, many of which are long and valuable.

or with those who insisted on using spurious arms. It did not seem to him honest, and anything dishonest was repugnant to his nature. In the REGISTER for April 1895 he made a communication on the arms of Anne Radcliffe, Lady Moulson, and was consulted by the authorities of Radcliffe College about these arms and as to a proper seal for the College.

In addition to his work for the Society on heraldry, he soon became a member of the Committee on the Library, and in the early nineties, when the writer first began to take an interest in the Society, where he made Mr. Woods's acquaintance, he was serving as secretary of that Committee and was active and alert in adding valuable books to the Library. His knowledge of English parish registers was extensive, and it was largely through his advice that the Society began the systematic collection of this important addition to its library.

For fifteen or twenty years he had been a constant visitor at the Library and a delver in the records of New England families, and had made brief genealogies for himself and given help to all his friends who were searching in these fields unusual to them, so that in the winter of 1901, when the late John Ward Dean became ill and unable to continue his work as Editor of the REGISTER, Mr. Woods was asked to edit the April, July, and October numbers; and after that he was chosen Editor and continued till 1907, when he was called to other duties.

President Baxter in his address at the annual meeting of the Society in 1902, in speaking of the great loss the Society had suffered in the death of Mr. Dean, said that they were fortunate in having tried men in their service, and, continuing, said: "One of these, I think, you will not object to have me particularly mention, and that is the present Editor of the REGISTER, Mr. Woods. His services have been so valuable that I cannot refrain from congratulating you for having secured them." And in his annual address the following year Mr. Baxter again called attention to Mr. Woods's work, saying: "I think you will all agree with me that under the able editorship of Mr. Woods it [the REGISTER] has grown better than ever." The late Caleb B. Tillinghast, for many years our Vice-President and Chairman of the Committee on Publications, had been thrown with many public men and was a keen judge of human nature, and at first he had some little doubt whether Mr. Woods would care to take up regular professional duties; but he soon found that he was not only accurate and skilful but conscientious and regular in the discharge of his duties, and the two men became the warmest of personal friends, often making little summer trips together.

In 1901 an active movement was made, mainly through the initiative of Edmund D. Barbour, in which he was strongly backed by Mr. Greenlaw and Mr. Woods, to have the State assist in the preservation of the vital records of the cities and towns of Massachusetts, by encouraging the printing each year of a fixed amount of such records in book form. This movement resulted in the Vital Records Act of June 1902, and Mr. Woods at once began the work for this Society, publishing during the first year the records of six small towns. In all he edited thirty-two volumes of these Vital Records.

In 1907 Robert T. Swan, the first Commissioner of Public Records for Massachusetts, died, and Mr. Woods was appointed to succeed him, receiving the appointment from his old schoolmate and lifelong friend, Curtis Guild, who was then Governor. This new position necessitated the withdrawal of Mr. Woods from active work for this Society, though he still served on committees and for three years (1908–1910) as a member of the Council,* and again the President voiced in his annual address what must have been the feeling of all, saying: "The retirement of Mr. Woods from the editorship of publications requires more than a passing notice. Since his connection with that department, Mr. Woods has not only rendered the most devoted service to the interests of the Society, but has shown himself to be possessed of editorial ability of a high character. In his association with the members of this Society and its officers, his unvarying courtesy and exuberant good will have endeared him to us all, and his vacant chair will remind us of a personal loss."

Mr. Woods's work as Commissioner took him to all parts of the State for a personal examination of the condition and methods of preservation of the town records, and it was while on one of these trips that he died. When he made these trips in summer his friends Grenville H. Norcross and Francis Apthorp Foster and sometimes others often went with him; and they delight in telling of the tact with which he handled his business, for the average town clerk is not apt to look with pleasure upon the advent of a State official who may criticize his work or oblige him to do it in some new way; but most of them melted under the hearty and smiling good nature with which Mr. Woods approached them, and it was seldom that he had to invoke his legal powers to accomplish his ends, though he did not hesitate to do this when necessary. He did a good work in encouraging the care and preservation of historic records, for his training had taught him their value, and he well knew how easily they might become lost or damaged in careless hands.

His achievements were recognized by election to membership in the American Antiquarian Society in 1907 and in the Massachusetts Historical Society in 1908, and he was one of the founders of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts in 1892. He was made an honorary member of the Harvard Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa in 1901 and of many historical organizations at various times, and Bowdoin College gave him the honorary degree of Master of Arts in 1903.

He was never married, and for many years made his home with his mother, to whom he was devoted through her years of acute suffering from rheumatic gout, and he did much also for the care of an invalid brother; but during recent years he had rooms on Newbury Street in Boston and really made his home at the near-by St. Botolph Club, where he enjoyed the companionship of friends with kindred tastes in art and literature.

*Mr. Woods was one of the donors to the fund raised for the erection of the new building of the Society at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, and he was a member of the Special Executive, Finance, and Building Committee in 1911 and 1912. He was also a member of the Committee on Consolidated Index during the years 1910, 1911, and 1912.

He had a large acquaintance, and knew much about the origin and careers of most Boston people, even though he was not personally acquainted with them. And he had a few warm, personal friends, perhaps quite as many as the average man. These intimates always remained his intimates, for they knew his sterling worth and his steadfast friendship, and they had penetrated through an outside manner perhaps due to shyness and knew what a loyal friend and genial companion he could be. It was always a pleasure to meet him, even for a passing word upon the street, and see his face light up with a cheery smile. Those who were but mere acquaintances have never really known Harry Woods.

He has accomplished much in his career, although he had his full share of cares and sorrows and must have had many lonely moments, but he has left a happy memory with his friends.

Frater, Ave atque Vale.

THE ERSKINE FAMILY OF BRISTOL, ME.

By FRANK ERNEST WOODWARD of Wellesley Hills, Mass.

THE Erskine families are numerous and wide-spread in Scotland. According to Lower's "Dictionary of the Family Names of the United Kingdom" the ancient and noble Scottish family bearing this surname derived it from the barony of Erskine on the Clyde, in Renfrewshire, and the name was first assumed as a surname by Henry of Erskine about the year 1220. The first of the name to attain historical importance was Robert Erskine, who became Earl of Mar in 1435, on the death of Alexander, the former Earl of Mar, without issue. This Robert was a grandson of Isabella, Countess of Mar. From that date until comparatively recent times this family has been prominent in the military, political, and religious annals of Scotland. Alexander Ferguson, biographer of Henry Erskine, Lord Advocate of Scotland, states that "there is scarcely a vicissitude that can be named which has come upon any Scotch family that has not befallen the Erskines, nor are there many of the great events in the history of the land in which they have not borne conspicuous parts."

The Erskine families that settled in New England in the eighteenth century came from the province of Ulster in the north of Ireland, and their ancestors, doubtless, were among the Scots who settled there in the reign of James I of England.§ Four men of this name settled in Massachusetts prior to 1750, but only two of them had numerous descendants. Christopher Erskine and his brother Robert came to Massachusetts in 1719, in the earliest immigration from Ireland, and settled in that part of the old town of Bridgewater which is now the town of East Bridgewater. Robert's line became extinct after the second generation, but there are many descendants of Christopher scattered over New England, New York, and the West. Alexander Erskine came to Boston in 1746, and a few years later settled at Bristol in Maine, then a part of Massachusetts, his elder brother Ninon joining him in Bristol a few years later. Of Ninon Erskine's posterity only a single family bearing the surname can now be found,* but the descendants of Alexander are numerous and form the subject of this article. There is some evidence to support the theory that the Bridgewater and Bristol families were related, although the two migrations were more than twenty-five years apart.

*At Newcomb's Station.
†A short distance north from the Baptist Church, Liberty.

§Among the variants of the name Erskine are found in Scotland in the seventeenth century the forms Irskyn and Areskine, while the early settlers of the name in New England spelled it Askins or Askines.

According to the United States Census of 1790 there were several Erskine families in central New York, but they cannot be traced to New England ancestry. John Erskine, who was judge of the United States District Court in Georgia from 1868 to 1883, was born in co. Tyrone, Ireland, in 1813, and came to America with his parents about 1820.

1. Alexander[1] Erskine, the first of this surname to settle in Maine, was of Scotch descent, his ancestors having crossed over from Scotland and settled in the north of Ireland after the expulsion of the Roman Catholic inhabitants. He was born at Londonderry, Ireland, about 1720,† and died at Bristol, Me., in 1784. Before migrating to New England he married Elizabeth Butters, and it is supposed that his two oldest children, Margaret and Sarah, were born in Londonderry.

Alexander Erskine arrived in Boston, Mass., in 1746, and a few years later went with Shem Drowne to Bristol, to aid in making a survey of the claims of the Pemaquid Proprietors and to distribute stores among the inhabitants. He decided to settle there, and acquired a tract of land of about 1000 acres. Through his influence his elder brother, Ninon Erskine, came, not long afterwards, to Bristol. As constable Alexander Erskine signed the warrant for the first town meeting in Bristol, in 1766.

His land was situated on both sides of the Pemaquid River, the house which he built being located just west of Biscay Pond and near its outlet. In the immediate vicinity his six sons and three daughters settled, on land which probably formed a part of his original grant, and the locality has ever since been known as the "Erskine neighborhood." At one time he was evidently a millwright, utilizing the water power at Pemaquid Falls. On 16 June 1776 he sold to Richard Jones three-fourths of a gristmill called "Arskin's Mills." On 26 June 1776 he sold to Ebenezer Cox, a son-in-law, 400 acres. On 9 Sept. 1777 he sold to his son William,

* The descendants of Ninon Erskine will be given in the Addendum at the end of this article.

† He deposed that in 1773 his age was about 50. (Report of the Massachusetts Commissioners to investigate the Causes of the Difficulties in the County of Lincoln, 1811, p. 59.)

for £100, 400 acres of land on the west side of the Pemaquid River, and later he disposed of the rest of his land to his other sons. His youngest son, Robert Erskine, was appointed administrator of his estate.

2. CAPT. ALEXANDER[2] ERSKINE (Alexander[1]), of Bristol, Me., born at Salem, Mass., in 1749, where his mother was living while her husband was preparing a home in Bristol, died at Bristol 20 Feb. 1826. He married first, in 1782, ELIZABETH BORLAND, of Scotch ancestry, born in the north of Ireland, died in 1792, sister of Capt. John Borland; and secondly, in 1793, MARY POLAND, born 22 Feb. 1769, died 2 Apr. 1832.

When twenty-eight years of age he enlisted as a private in Capt. Henry Hunter's company, Colonel Jones's regiment, in the War of the Revolution. Later he joined the Continental Army, and served throughout the War. At one time he served as General Washington's bodyguard. He was pensioned by the Government for his services, and his pension was continued to his widow. At the close of the War he returned to Bristol, and for a while followed the sea, as master of a vessel. On a voyage in 1784, with a cargo of lumber for Boston, his sloop encountered a severe storm and was driven ashore at Ipswich, Mass. Captain Erskine was obliged to pay $150 to float the sloop, in addition to the cost of repairs, and lost much of his cargo. The last years of his life were spent on his farm at Bristol.

She married secondly, 29 June 1806, as his second wife, Christopher Erskine of Alna (then New Milford), Me. He was a son of Christopher Erskine of Abington, Mass., and had settled in Alna (then a part of Pownalborough) in 1766. He was doubtless distantly related to the Bristol family. For a while after marriage he and his second wife remained in Bristol, but later they went to Whitefield, Me., and lived with his son Christopher. Ruth (Cox) (Erskine) Erskine died there 9 Dec. 1825, and was buried in Bristol, beside her first husband.

William Erskine bought of his father, 9 Sept. 1777, 400 acres of land on the west side of the Pemaquid River, and built a house there.

He died 14 Feb. 1832. Elizabeth, his widow, returned to Bristol, and passed the remainder of her days with her children by her first husband.

It has been impossible to obtain a full record of John Erskine's family. In the U. S. Census of 1790 he is credited with one son and one daughter. In the Direct Tax of 1798 his name does not appear. He owned at one time 300 acres of land on the east side of the Pemaquid River, but in 1795 sold it to his brother Robert. On 26 Sept. 1800 he bought 300 acres of land in the plantation of New Waterford, Me.

Robert Erskine was both a soldier and a sailor in the Revolutionary War, and was in active service, for most of the time on the sea, from 1776 until the close of the War. The muster rolls at the State House in Boston show that he enlisted as a private in Capt. Caleb Turner's company on 26 Mar. 1776 and again on 10 Sept. 1777; also as a lieutenant on the privateer Lincoln Galley, commanded by Capt. John Curtis, on 19 Mar. 1781, serving 4 months and 4 days, but tradition in his family says that he spent much of his time in sea service. After the War, according to documents published by the Maine Historical Society, he evidently did some privateering on his own account. He became later a successful shipmaster and a large owner of real estate.

In the Direct Tax of 1798 he is recorded as having a dwelling house valued at $120 and 300 acres of land, although not then married. The dwelling house was probably the homestead which he held in accordance with an agreement among the heirs of his father that he should care for and maintain his mother so long as she lived. Margaret, his widow, lived for a few years in Boston after Robert's death.

THE MOTHER OF REV. JOHN WHEELWRIGHT

By Mrs. Mary Lovering Holman of Watertown, Mass.

In the Wheelwright pedigree given in the valuable article entitled "The Lincolnshire Origin of Some Exeter Settlers," published in the Register for January, 1914 (vol. 68, pages 64–80), the writer of the article, Victor Channing Sanborn, Esq., states that Robert Wheelwright, who was the father of Rev. John Wheelwright of New England and was buried at Saleby, co. Lincoln, England, 23 Feb. 1612/13, married first Alice ———, who was buried at Cumberworth, co. Lincoln, in 1592; secondly Catherine ———, who was buried at Saleby 8 July 1605; and thirdly, at Saleby, 17 Nov. 1606, Catherine Money, widow of John. Mr. Sanborn assigns to Robert Wheelwright a daughter and a son by his first wife, Alice ———, and three daughters by his second wife, Catherine ———. The daughter by the first wife is said to have married Thomas Kingerby of Wainfleet, co. Lincoln, and to have died before 13 Oct. 1611, as she is not mentioned in her father's will of that date. The son was the Rev. John Wheelwright, who, Mr. Sanborn states, was born about 1592, "since he was a minor in 1611, when his father made his will, but was of age 7 Mar. 1612/13, when the will was proved." It is the purpose of the present article to prove that in all probability Catherine ———, who appears in Mr. Sanborn's article as the second wife of Robert Wheelwright, was a daughter of Thomas Mawer, that she had been the wife of Richard Kingerby before her marriage with Robert Wheelwright, and that she was the mother of Rev. John Wheelwright.

An examination of the records which precede the pedigree given by Mr. Sanborn shows that, although an Alice Wheelwright was buried at Cumberworth in 1592, there is no evidence that she was the wife of Robert Wheelwright. It is just as likely that she was Robert's sister or mother or even a more distant connection. The existence of a daughter who married Thomas Kingerby is inferred from the passage in Robert Wheelwright's will in which he appoints as one of the two supervisors "Thomas Kingerbye of Wainflett my sonne in lawe," but the evidence now to be presented makes it very probable that Thomas Kingerbye was not the husband of Robert Wheelwright's daughter but was his stepson, the son of his wife Catherine by a former husband named Kingerby.*

In "Lincolnshire Pedigrees," vol. 2, page 567 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 51), there is printed a pedigree of Kingerby of Wainfleet, according to which William [sic, ? Richard] Kingerby of Wainfleet, son of William Kingerby of co. Lincoln, married

*John Wheelwright of Mumby, co. Lincoln, uncle of Rev. John Wheelwright, in his will dated 5 Feb. 1610/11, mentions "Peter Rylay my sone in lawe" and "Robert Rylay my sone in lawe," and from this Mr. Sanborn draws the conclusion that Peter and Robert Rylay were the husbands of daughters of the testator. But here also "sone in lawe" may mean "stepson," especially as Robert Wheelwright, son of John Wheelwright of Mumby and cousin of Rev. John Wheelwright, in his will dated 24 Jan. 1621/2, mentions "Robert Rylay of Mumby, my brother, Jane his wife, and William his son."

Katherine, daughter of Thomas Mawer of Willoughby, and had by her two sons, viz., Robert Kingerby of Wainfleet, who died without issue, and Thomas Kingerby of Croft, 1634, who married Faith, daughter of William Clarkson of Wainfleet. Directly north of Saleby is the parish of Strubby, and in the parish registers of Strubby with Woodthorpe are recorded the marriages of Richard Kingerbie and Katherine Mawer, 2 Apr. 1581, and Thomas Kynggerbye and Faith Cawthorn, 12 Mar. 1610 [1610/11].* According to the Index of Wills in the Consistory Court of Lincoln the will of Richard Kingerby of Wainfleet was proved in 1591 and the will of Robert Kingerby of Wainfleet was proved in 1613.

The parish registers of Willoughby contain the records of four marriages to which a Thomas Mawer was a party, the Thomas Mawer mentioned last being possibly a son of the first-mentioned Thomas. These marriages are as follows:†

1541 Thomas Mawer and Joan Dawson 25 August.
1557 Thomas Mawer and Joan Leming 17 August.
1560 Thomas Mawer and Margaret Mason 3 August.
1571 Thomas Mawer and Agnes Goodwin 13 November.

The will of a Thomas Mawer of Willoughby, probably the father of the Katherine who married Richard Kingerby on 2 Apr. 1581, was proved in the Consistory Court of Lincoln in 1597. Katherine was born probably about 1560, and may have been the daughter of Joan (Leming) Mawer or of Margaret (Mason) Mawer. As she did not give either of these names (Joan or Margaret) to her daughters by her second husband (if it be assumed that she did become the wife of Robert Wheelwright), the name of her mother cannot be determined without an examination of the unpublished portions of the registers of Willoughby.

It seems likely, therefore, from the foregoing evidence, that, whether or not the Alice Wheelwright who was buried at Cumberworth in 1592 was the wife of Robert Wheelwright, the Catherine ——— who is given in Mr. Sanborn's pedigree as the second wife of Robert was the daughter of Thomas Mawer of Willoughby and married first, 2 Apr. 1581, Richard Kingerby of Wainfleet, who died about 1591, by whom she had two sons, Robert, who died without issue, and Thomas, who married Faith Clarkson or Cawthorn—perhaps Faith (Clarkson) Cawthorn, this Thomas Kingerby being the "sonne in lawe," i.e., stepson, mentioned in Robert Wheelwright's will. Since he was made supervisor of the will and guardian of one of Robert Wheelwright's daughters, he was of age at that time and was older than any of the children of Robert.

If Catherine (Mawer) Kingerby married secondly Robert Wheelwright, she was the mother of the three daughters of Robert Wheelwright, Elizabeth, Katherine, and Ellen or Elynor, who appear in the records given in Mr. Sanborn's article. She was also, it is probable, the mother of Rev. John Wheelwright, for he seems to have been born about 1594, some two years later than the date assigned by Mr. Sanborn for his birth. This is inferred from the statement in the inquisition post mortem of Robert Wheelwright, cousin of Rev. John Wheelwright, taken 29 August 1622, that John Wheelwright, clerk, next heir to the deceased, was aged twenty-seven years and more. If he had been thirty years old, it would have been so stated in the inquisition. He was therefore under age not only when his father appointed him executor of his will, 13 Oct. 1611,* but also on 7 Mar. 1612/13, when the will was proved and administration was granted to the executor. It is probable that a complete copy of the probate act would show that administration was granted to the executor in the person of his guardian. The fact that Rev. John Wheelwright named his second daughter Katherine and his second son Thomas increases the probability that his mother was Katherine, daughter of Thomas Mawer.

*Lincolnshire Parish Registers. Marriages, vol. 7, pp. 129, 131.
†Ib., vol. 9, pp. 118, 121, 122.

When Rev. John Wheelwright returned to England in 1658, he lived at Willoughby, and was the plaintiff in a final concord made in that year in regard to land and buildings in that parish (REGISTER, vol. 68, page 74). Some writers have stated that he went to Willoughby because it was the home of Sir Henry Vane, his patron, but it seems more likely that he went there because it was the home of his kindred. In his will he disposed of property at Croft, the home of Thomas Kingerby in 1634.

An examination of the Kingerby and Mawer wills proved in the Consistory Court of Lincoln and of Lincolnshire parish registers would probably throw more light on the family connections of Rev. John Wheelwright.

Contributed by Alfred Rudulph Justice of Ardmore, Pa., and communicated by the Committee on English Research

The following records, with those given or referred to in the accompanying pedigree, establish the English ancestry and family connections of Jeremiah Clarke, who was prominent among the early settlers of Newport, R. I., and was the progenitor of several men of distinction in Rhode Island annals.

FROM MARRIAGE LICENCES GRANTED BY THE BISHOP OF LONDON

1598 William Clerke of St. Botolph, Aldgate, London, Gent., and Mary Weston of St. Andrew's, Holborn, Spr, daughter of Jerome Weston of the same, Esq., at St. Andrew's, Holborn, 10 February [1598/9].*

Hitherto nothing conclusive has been published about the English antecedents of Jeremiah Clarke of Rhode Island. The fact that one of his sons was named Weston, and that this name was borne by some of Jeremiah Clarke's grandsons and more remote descendants, pointed to a connection with a Weston family. There was a tradition, also, that his wife Frances, who was known to have had three husbands, William Dungan, Jeremiah Clarke, and Rev. William Vaughan, had been married first to a Lord Weston. Barbara Dungan, a daughter of Jeremiah Clarke's wife by her former husband, married James Barker of Rhode Island, and their descendant, James Barker, wrote: "Frances, the wife of William Vaugn, died September, 1677, in the 67th year of her age. She was the daughter of Lewis Latham. She was some time the wife of Lord Weston, then wife to William Dungan, by whom she had one son and three daughters. . . . After William Dungan died, she married Mr. Jeremiah Clarke and came over to New England with her four children above mentioned. She had by her husband Clarke five sons. After he died she married to a Mr. Vaugn."† No record, however, of a marriage between a Lord Weston and Frances Latham could be found, and Morrison, in his "Clarke Families of Rhode Island," suggested that Jeremiah Clarke might have been connected with the Clarkes of Willoughby, co. Warwick, who at one time owned the manor of Weston, and that one of Frances Latham's husbands, perhaps Jeremiah Clarke himself, might have been a lord of the manor of Weston.

It was in the will of James Clarke of East Farleigh, co. Kent, Gent., dated 13 July 1614 (vide supra, page 70), an abstract of which was published in the REGISTER in Jan. 1896, and in the Clerk pedigree in the Visitation of London, 1633, 1634, and 1635, vol. 1, page 172 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 15), that the clues leading to the discovery of the parentage and ancestry of Jeremiah Clarke were found. James Clarke in his will mentions a Weston Clarke and the latter's "brethren," a word which indicates that Weston Clarke had more than one brother. The pedigree of Clerk of Allgate Ward, printed in the Visitation of London, begins with James Clerke in co. Kent, who married Merie Saxby, daughter of Baron Saxby, gives James Clerke's son, William Clerke in co. Kent, who married Mary Weston, daughter of Sir Hierom Weston, and names also two sons of this William Clerke, viz., Weston Clerke of London, eldest son and heir, now (1633) dead, who married Dorcas, daughter of . . . . Norfolke,* and James Clerke of London, grocer, 1633, who married Sarah Harvey and had a daughter, Mary Clerke, who was one year old in 1633. This pedigree is signed by James Clerk (the grocer of London), and at the top are the words: "This descent not to be entred. refuseth to pay fee nephew to the Lo. Treasurer." An editorial note states that this pedigree has been erased in the original Visitation. It is probable that the refusal of James Clerk to pay the required fee was the reason for not entering the pedigree and for erasing it in the original manuscript of the Visitation. It was easily ascertained that the Lord Treasurer of England in 1633 was Richard Weston, Earl of Portland, son of Sir Jerome Weston, and in the marriage licences granted by the Bishop of London was found the licence for the marriage of William Clerke, Gent., and Mary Weston, daughter of Sir Jerome Weston. It then remained to search the parish registers of East Farleigh, co. Kent, and there were found recorded the baptisms of nine children of William Clerk, Gent., beginning with Weston, the eldest child, and ending with a posthumous daughter, Mary. Among them was a son Jeram (sic), who was the Jeremiah Clarke who emigrated to Rhode Island.

By means of a pedigree printed in the Visitation of Kent, 1619, pages 2–3 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 42), it is possible to trace the ancestry of James Clerke of East Farleigh, who married Merie (Mary) Saxby and was the grandfather of Jeremiah Clarke of Rhode Island, back for five generations, to John Clerk of Forde in the parish of Wrotham, co. Kent, Esq.

From the preceding records, from the pedigrees in the Visitations of Kent and of London, and from other records and authorities cited below, the following genealogy showing the English ancestry of Jeremiah Clarke of Rhode Island has been compiled.

1. JOHN CLERK, of Forde in the parish of Wrotham, co. Kent, Esq., lived probably in the first half of the fifteenth century.

According to Hasted (History of Kent), who wrote about 1782, Forde Hall, formerly the seat of this family, lay about a mile and a half eastward from Wrotham church, near Addington Common, and derived its name from the ford which crossed the brook that ran close by the Hall to Leybourne and thence to the Medway. In Hasted's time the house was occupied by a farmer. It is still standing, and contains a curious and beautiful carved staircase.*

*The marriage licence shows that she was Dorcas Smith, daughter of Matthew of King's Lynn, co. Norfolk, merchant. Vide infra, 7, i.

John Clerke was a baron of the Exchequer from 10 Oct. 1468 until 1479, and is mentioned as such in the Visitation of Kent, 1619.

3. JOHN CLERK, of Forde, Esq., son and heir of John (2), married, about 1470, LUCIA MOYLE, daughter of Sir Walter Moyle, Knight, and his wife Margaret.

Margaret Moyle, relict of Walter Moyle, Knight, in her will dated 20 Jan. 1491 [? 1491/2] and proved at Canterbury 1 June 1493, directs that her body shall be buried in the quire of the blessed Mary of Estewell, close to the sepulture of the said Walter Moyle, bequeaths 40s. to the fabrick of the steeple of Charyng, and mentions Richard and John Moyle, her sons, and Lucia Clerke, her daughter. (Nicolas's Testamenta Vetusta, vol. 2, p. 402.)

Child:

4. i. JAMES.

4. JAMES CLERK, of Forde, Esq., son and heir of John (3), died at Wrotham 20 Sept. 1554. He married, about 1508, ELIZABETH FERRERS, daughter of Sir Henry, Knight, and Margaret (Heckstall) and sister of Sir Edward Ferrers of Baddesley Clinton, co. Warwick, and Peckham, co. Kent, Knight (Visitation of Warwickshire, 1619, page 5).† The Visitation of Kent, 1619, erroneously states that Elizabeth, wife of James Clerk, was a daughter of Sir Edward Ferrers; but Sir Edward Ferrers in his will, dated 10 July 1535 (P. C. C., Hogen, 29), mentions his daughter Elizabeth as the wife of John Hampden and also leaves a legacy to his nephew George Clerke.

*Arms of Clerke, according to the Visitation of Kent, 1619: Quarterly. 1. Or, on a bend engrailed azure a cinquefoil of the field. 2. Argent, on a chevron gules between three columbines azure as many crescents or. 3. Azure, a cross between five billets in saltire argent in each quarter. 4. Or, on a cross sable five crescents argent. Crest: A greyhound's head couped or, charged on the neck with a cinquefoil azure.

†Sir Henry Ferrers was eighth in descent from King Edward I of England.

Children:

5. i. George, b. about 1510.
ii. Henry.
iii. Walter.
iv. John.

5. George Clerk, of Forde, Esq., son and heir of James (4), born about 1510, was buried at Wrotham 8 Mar. 1558/9.* He married, about 1533, Elizabeth Wilsforde, daughter of Thomas, Esq., and Elizabeth (Culpepper) of Hartridge, parish of Cranbrook, co. Kent (cf. Visitation of Kent, 1619, pages 53, 62).

George Clarke is mentioned by Procter among those who, at the time of Wyatt's Rebellion, marched from Malling, co. Kent, with Lord Abergavenny and Sir Robert Southwell, Sheriff, to intercept Sir Henry Isley and the two Knevetts, who were marching from Sevenoaks, and prevent them from joining Wyatt at Rochester. They effected their object by defeating the rebels at Blackesol Field, Wrotham, 10 Feb. 1553/4. (Archæologia Cantiana, vol. 3, p. 180, footnote.)

i. William, of Forde, Esq., s. and heir of George (5), b. about 1536; d. 23 Mar. 1611/12, aged 76; bur. in Wrotham church 25 Mar. 1612;‡ m. (1) Anna Cartwright, dau. of Edmund, Esq., and Agnes (Cranmer) of Ossington, co. Nottingham, Agnes Cranmer being a sister of Thomas Cranmer, Archbishop of Canterbury, who was burned at the stake at Oxford 21 Mar. 1555/6 (cf. Visitation of Nottinghamshire, pp. 71, 109); m. (2) Jane Samger, who was bur. at Wrotham 28 Apr. 1598; m. (3) Elizabeth (Aubrey) Norton of Northwood, dau. of William Aubrey, Esq., D.C.L., and widow of Thomas Norton of Northwood, Esq. (cf. Berry's Pedigrees of the Families in the County of Kent, p. 158). Administration on his estate was granted to his son, Sir John Clerk of Forde, Knight. Children by first wife: 1. Elizabeth, bapt. at Wrotham 8 Jan. 1561/2; m. there, 26 May 1584, Peter Parris of East Malling, co. Kent. 2. Anne, bapt. at Wrotham 9 July 1564; m. Richard Lee of Lee Magna, Esq. 3. Frances, bapt. at Wrotham 23 May 1566; m. there, 4 Nov. 1606, Edward Thedam of co. Essex. 4. Catherine, bapt. at Wrotham 29 Oct. 1567; bur. there 5 Oct. 1576. 5. James, bapt. at Wrotham 23 Nov. 1568; d. s. p. in France. 6. Jane, bapt. at Wrotham 2 Sept. 1571; m. Sir John Howell of Compe in Wrotham, Knight. 7. Mary, bapt. at Wrotham 13 May 1576; perhaps the Mary Clerke, gentlewoman, who m. at Addington church, 8 Feb. 1620/1, Rev. Robert Cheek, D. D. 8. Katherine, bapt. at Wrotham 10 Apr. 1580; m. George Chauncy of Hartford. 9. Dorothy, bapt. at Wrotham 2 Sept. 1582. 10. William, bapt. at Wrotham 21 June 1585; probably d. young. 11. Sir John, of Forde, Knight, s. and heir, d. 22 Aug. 1644; m. (marriage settlement dated 1 June 1608) Elizabeth Steed, dau. of Sir William of Harrietsham, co. Kent, Knight; three children given in the Visitation of Kent, 1619.§

*According to the inquisition post mortem of George Clerk, he died on "6 May last," that is, 6 May 1559; but 6 May is probably an error—either in the original inquisition or in the printed abstract of it—for 6 Mar.

6. ii. JAMES, of East Farleigh, co. Kent, Gent., b. about 1540.
iii. GEORGE, Gent., m. at Wrotham, 11 Aug. 1572, MRS. WINIFRED PECKHAM, dau. of Roger Peckham. Administration on the estate of Roger Peckham of Wrotham was granted 4 Feb. 1620 to his relict Margaret. Either he was very aged, or the record refers to his son Roger. Perhaps he was related to the Peckhams who came to New England, one of whom, John Peckham, was an original member of the First Baptist Church of Newport, R. I., and some of whom intermarried with the Clarke family in New England. Children, bapt. at Wrotham: 1. Elizabeth, bapt. 13 Dec. 1573. 2. William, bapt. 19 Dec. 1574.
iv. ELIZABETH, m. THOMAS GOULDEN or GODDEN of Leybourne, co. Kent, Gent., who was bur. there 10 Sept. 1584. In the inquisition post mortem on George Clerk, Esq., father of Elizabeth, her husband is called Thomas Goodman (vide supra), but Godden is probably the correct form of the surname.*
v. THOMAS, of Wrotham and Canterbury, Gent., d. unm., and was bur. at Wrotham 21 June 1618. His nuncupative will (vide supra) was made the last of May or beginning of June 1618, and administration was granted 20 Aug. 1618 to John Clerke (5, i, 11).

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

Boston, Massachusetts, 5 November 1919. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P. M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the October meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting that since the October meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Charles Healy Ditson of New York City

not been found. The Visitation of Kent, however, gives James as the eldest son, and Sir John as the son and heir of his father. His brother William is not given in the Visitation. If William was older than Sir John, he must have died before his father. The three children of Sir John who are given in the Visitation are William, eldest son, aged 9 years and more in 1619, Cecilia, and John, aged 5 years and more in 1619. William, then Sir William Clerke of Forde, was a Royalist in the Civil War, raised a regiment for the King at his own expense, and was killed in the skirmish at Cropredy Bridge, 29 June 1644, aged 36 years, crying out as he fell: "Look to Sir William Boteler, for I see he is wounded." The Council also reported that since the October meeting Helen Frances Kimball, a Life Member of the Society, had become a Pilgrim Tercentenary Member.

The Council also reported that invitations to become Honorary Members of the Society had been extended in its name and had been accepted by His Majesty Albert, King of the Belgians, and His Excellency Calvin Coolidge, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The Council also reported the names of thirty-five candidates for Pilgrim Tercentenary Membership, one candidate for Life Membership, and four candidates for Resident Membership, stating that action by the Council on these names would be in order after they had been posted for thirty days, in accordance with the By-Laws.

On motion it was Voted, That the Society proceed to the election of a Councillor, vice Charles Sherburne Penhallow, resigned, and to the election of the Nominating Committee, agreeable to the provisions of the By-Laws.

That three tellers be appointed by the Chair, and that said tellers shall distribute, receive, sort, and count the ballots, and make a report at this meeting.

That the polls be now opened, and stand open until every member present has had opportunity to vote.

The Recording Secretary announced that Matt Bushnell Jones of Newton, Mass., who had been nominated in accordance with the By-Laws as a candidate for Councillor, vice Charles Sherburne Penhallow, resigned, and whose name was printed on the ballot, had found that it would be impossible for him to accept this position, if elected, and had withdrawn his name.

The Chair called for nominations for Councillor, and Vice-President Chase nominated Myles Standish, M.D., of Boston, Mass. This nomination was seconded, the Chair appointed as tellers Messrs. W. O. Comstock, Arthur W. Peirce, and Hosea Starr Ballou, and the election by ballot of a Councillor and of the Nominating Committee took place.

President Baxter then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, James Raymond Simmons, A.B., B.S., of Syracuse, N. Y., Secretary-Forester of the New York State Forestry Association, who in an instructive lecture, entitled Three Centuries of Historic Trees in Massachusetts, impressed upon his audience the value of trees as memorials, said that they are the oldest living witnesses of the history of mankind, and declared that the strength of any nation may be measured largely by the extent and quality of its forests. Mr. Simmons illustrated his lecture by a series of beautiful lantern slides, showing some of the most famous trees connected with historic events in Massachusetts.

Vice-President Chase, to whom President Baxter had resigned the chair, then called for the report of the tellers, and, when this had been presented, declared that Myles Standish, M. D., of Boston, Mass., had been elected Councillor for the term ending in February 1922, vice Charles Sherburne Penhallow, resigned, and that George Walter Chamberlain of Malden, Mrs. Ida Louise Farr Miller of Wakefield, William Streeter Richardson of Canton, Myles Standish, M. D., of Boston, and Mrs. Louie Dean White of Brookline had been elected members of the Nominating Committee.

At 4.40 P. M. the Chair declared the meeting dissolved, and the members of the Society, with their guests, enjoyed a social hour in the tea room.

3 December. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P. M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the November meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting that since the November meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Resident Members

Mrs. William F. Warden of Boston, Mass.

The Council also reported that since the November meeting the following Life Members of the Society had become Pilgrim Tercentenary Members:

Elizabeth Mussey Eustis Henry Dutton Eustis
Mary St. Barbe Eustis

The Council also reported the names of thirty-five candidates for Pilgrim Tercentenary Membership (in addition to the names of eight candidates reported at the November meeting) and four candidates for Resident Membership, stating that action by the Council on these names would be in order after they had been posted for thirty days, in accordance with the By-Laws.

The Recording Secretary stated that he had been informed that the number of those who had accepted Pilgrim Tercentenary Membership in the Society since this form of membership was established in February, 1919, was now three hundred, including nineteen Resident and Life Members, who had been transferred to this new form of membership.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read and accepted, and on motion it was Voted, That the Nominating Committee, having performed its duties, be discharged.

The President appointed Messrs. William Streeter Richardson and William Eben Stone as auditors to audit the accounts of the Treasurer for the current year.

President Baxter then introduced, as the speaker of the afternoon, Walter Elmore Fernald, M.D., of Waverley, Mass., Superintendent of the Massachusetts School for the Feeble-Minded, who, in a scholarly and instructive paper, entitled The Eugenics of Genealogy, discussed the transmission by inheritance of good and bad traits and tendencies, physical, mental, and moral, with especial reference to cases of hereditary feeble-mindedness. After the address Dr. Fernald answered several questions that were asked by some of his hearers, and the Society voted to extend to him its thanks.

At 4.20 P. M. the Chair declared the meeting dissolved, and the members of the Society, with their guests, enjoyed the hospitality of the tea room.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

HERALDRY.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

CONNECTICUT STATE LIBRARY.—George Seymour Godard, M. A., State Librarian of Connecticut, has sent to the REGISTER the following brief account of the new duties placed upon the State Library by the Connecticut General Assembly in 1919.

1. A Department of War Records was established, to continue the work done by the Committee upon Historical Records established under the Connecticut State Council of Defense. The work of this Committee and Department, of which the State Librarian was chairman and is director, is "To collect, classify, index and install in the library all available material relating to Connecticut participation, public or private, in the world war, and thus to establish a permanent and accessible record of its extent and character, such record to be as complete and comprehensive as possible and to cover not only the activities of the state, its subdivisions and agencies, but also of Connecticut agencies of the federal government, organizations of private persons, and of those individuals who were direct participants in the great struggle, whether as soldiers, sailors, aviators or otherwise."

2. Identifying and Marking of Graves of Soldiers, Sailors, and Marines. The act reads: "The state librarian may cause to be located and permanently identified the graves of all soldiers, sailors and marines, veterans of any war in which the colony of Connecticut or the United States of America has been or may be engaged, who are buried within the limits of this state. The sum of ten thousand dollars is appropriated toward carrying out the purposes of this act."

3. The work of arranging, repairing, indexing, and making accessible the Connecticut archives, original probate files, and public records not in current use, deposited from various parts of the State, and special collections presented to the Library, is being continued as heretofore.

4. The special work in connection with the Connecticut State Military Census, State Agricultural Survey, and State Industrial Survey has been merged with the work of the Department of War Records, with an increased force of assistants.

The Swett Collection of Bunker Hill Affidavits.—Mr. Artemas Ward of 50 Union Square, New York City, wishes to locate the collection of affidavits, etc. (nearly 200 items, including muster rolls, letters, certificates, etc.), gathered in 1818 by Col. Samuel Swett when he was preparing his "Historical and Topographical Sketch of Bunker Hill Battle." The history of this collection, down to 1883, is, briefly, as follows:

In 1818, on the publication of his "Sketch of Bunker Hill Battle," Colonel Swett deposited his "documents and proofs" with the Boston Athenæum, in order that, in the words of the author's preface, "the public may judge for themselves." These "documents and proofs" constitute the Swett Collection sought by Mr. Ward. It is entirely separate from the collection of Bunker Hill affidavits or depositions taken by William Sullivan and others in 1825 and discussed in the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society, First Series, vol. 2, pp. 230–232. The two collections are clearly differentiated in Swett's "Notes to the Sketch of Bunker Hill Battle," printed in the second edition of that book, 1825 (cf. pp. 3, note, and 10), and also in Frothingham's "Siege of Boston," first edition (p. 380, paragraphs 3 and 8) and later editions.

In 1825, in his "Notes to the Sketch of Bunker Hill Battle," Colonel Swett said that he copied statements from the Boston Centinel because the originals (part of the Swett Collection now sought) "had been lost from the Boston Athenæum." They were, however, subsequently found, as is noted in manuscript on many copies of the "Notes."

In 1849 Frothingham made use of the Collection in the preparation of his "Siege of Boston." (See first edition, 1849, p. 121, note, and also later editions.)

In 1883 the Collection was offered for sale for $200 in the catalogue published in May of that year by the late C. L. Woodward, then of 78 Nassau Street, New York City; but Mr. Ward has not been able to find out when the Collection was sold from the Woodward stock or who bought it. An annotated set of the Woodward catalogues is in the possession of the American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass., and the manuscript notes in the catalogue for May 1883 name the buyers of a majority of the titles but, unfortunately, not the buyer of the Swett Collection.

Mr. Ward has found no trace of the Collection after 1883. Any information about it or any clue to its whereabouts will be gratefully appreciated by him.

Genealogies in Preparation.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

)wing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England oric Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer h satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has me impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is racticable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the ety, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, ever, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert ices of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and ographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. irers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are ı below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.

HON. WILLIAM PAINE SHEFFIELD, A.M.

By Rev. Lewis Wilder Hicks, M.A., of Wellesley, Mass.

William Paine Sheffield, of Newport, R. I., elected a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1912, made a life member 27 January 1919, and from 5 February 1913 until his death Vice-President of the Society for Rhode Island, died suddenly at his summer residence, the old Wells farmhouse near Miskiania Camp in Exeter, R. I., 19 October 1919. He was born at Newport 1 June 1857, the son of William Paine and Lilias White (Sanford) Sheffield.

From the early days of the English settlement in Rhode Island the Sheffield family has held a worthy and prominent place in its annals. Edmund[1] Sheffield, of Sudbury, co. Suffolk, England, was the father of Ichabod[2] Sheffield, who was baptized in the parish of St. Peter, Sudbury, 23 Dec. 1630, was of Portsmouth and Newport, R. I., in 1648, and married, in 1660, Mary, daughter of George and Frances Parker. Ichabod Sheffield served as a deputy in the Colonial Assembly in 1690, and died 4 February 1712.

His son, Joseph[3] Sheffield, of Portsmouth, the eldest of five children (four sons and a daughter), was born 22 August 1661, married, 12 February 1685 [1684/5], Mary Shrieve, daughter of Thomas Shrieve of Plymouth and Portsmouth, and died in 1706, his wife dying in the same year. He was deputy in 1696, and assistant from 1696 to 1705, except in 1697. He was appointed agent of the Colony in England in 1700 and 1703, and was attorney general in 1704, 1705, and 1706. He had four sons and three daughters.

His son, Edmund[4] Sheffield, of North Kingstown, Exeter, and Block Island, was born 5 April 1694, and married, 5 April 1719, Sarah, daughter of Nicholas Gardiner of Kingstown. He was a large landholder on Block Island, and a deputy in the Colonial Assembly.

Capt. Josiah[5] Sheffield, son of Edmund,[4] was admitted a freeman at New Shoreham (Block Island) in 1760, and married, 8 January 1761, Sarah, daughter of George Gardiner of South Kingstown. He also was a deputy in the Assembly. The births of two sons and two daughters are entered in the records of New Shoreham.

Edmund[6] Sheffield, third child and second son of Josiah,[5] was born 7 December 1765, and married, 28 January 1790, Mercy, daughter of Caleb Littlefield, Esq., a member of the New Shoreham Committee of Correspondence and a descendant of Edmond Littlefield, one of the early settlers at Wells, Me.* The births of three sons and three daughters of Edmund and Mercy Sheffield are recorded at New Shoreham.

George Gardiner[7] Sheffield, second son and second child of Edmund,[6] was born 24 February 1792, and married, 4 January 1816, Eliza, daughter of William L. (a farmer of New Shoreham) and Mary (Clark) Paine. In early life Mr. Sheffield was a Jeffersonian Democrat, but in 1856 he associated himself with the newly-formed Republican Party. He was active in town affairs and in politics, and held various offices of trust and honor, serving for several terms as representative of his town in the General Assembly of Rhode Island. He died in 1871 at South Lyme, Conn., which had been his home for the few years immediately preceding his death.

William Paine[8] Sheffield, of Newport, son of George Gardiner[7] and father of the subject of this memoir, was born in the town of New Shoreham (Block Island) 29 August 1819, and died at his home in Newport 2 June 1907. He was educated at the Kingstown (R. I.) Academy and by private tutors, and then entered upon the study of law. While still a very young man he began his political career, serving in 1841 as a delegate to the "Landholders' Convention," which met for the purpose of preparing a new constitution for the State, and being in 1842 a member of the General Assembly, where he took a firm stand for law and order as opposed to "Dorrism." In 1843 and 1844, while he was pursuing his studies in law, he was again a member of the General Assembly from New Shoreham. He was a student at the Harvard Law School for a part of the year 1844, and in the same year was admitted to the Rhode Island bar. He began the practice of his profession at Tiverton, R. I., and represented that town in the lower branch of the Rhode Island Legislature in 1849, 1851, and 1852. Removing soon afterwards to Newport, he was elected to the General Assembly from that city, serving from 1857 to 1861, when he took his seat as a member of the House of Representatives in the Thirty-seventh Congress (4 July 1861–3 March 1863), to which he had been elected, as a Unionist, in 1860. After the expiration of his congressional term he was again elected, in 1863, to represent Newport in the General Assembly of Rhode Island, and, with the exception of the years 1873 and 1874, was reelected annually to the Assembly, until 1884. Governor Bourn then appointed him to the seat in the United States Senate made vacant by the death of Henry Bowen Anthony, and he took his seat 2 December 1884 and served until 20 January 1885, when a senator was elected by the Legislature. In the Rhode Island General Assembly Mr. Sheffield was an able member of the standing committee of the House on the Judiciary, and in 1869 he served on a select committee to revise the laws of the State. He was a ready speaker and wrote many important monographs on legal and historical subjects. He was prominent in the affairs of his home city, and was a leader in finance, the oldest member of the corporation of the Redwood Library, president and director of the People's Free Library, vice-president of the Newport Historical Society, a member of the Society of the Cincinnati, and chairman of the committee appointed to receive in Rhode Island the French delegates who came to the United States to take part in the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. From Brown University he received the honorary degrees of Master of Arts and of Doctor of Laws. In 1847 he married Lilias White Sanford, daughter of Samuel and Susan (Bodge) Sanford of Boston and a descendant of John Sanford, who was one of the earliest settlers of Rhode Island and president of Portsmouth and Newport from May 1653 to May 1654.

William Paine[9] Sheffield, the subject of this memoir, only son of William Paine[8] and Lilias White (Sanford), received his early education in private schools in his native city, entered Phillips Andover Academy, where he was graduated with honor in 1873, and then was admitted to Brown University, where he won the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1877, graduating with the highest honors. In 1880 his alma mater conferred on him the degree of Master of Arts. He studied civil and Roman law at the University of Paris, and, on his return from abroad, continued his law studies at the Harvard Law School, where he was enrolled as a student in 1878–9, and in the office of his father. He was admitted to the Rhode Island bar 1 March 1880, and continued in the active practice of his profession until a short time before his death. Since the death of his father, in 1907, he had been the head of the law firm of Sheffield and Harvey, of Newport.

In 1880 Mr. Sheffield began a long career of faithful public service by accepting an appointment to the office of State commissioner on the affairs of the Narragansett Indians. He held this position until 1884, and in the performance of its duties gained a thorough knowledge of this Indian tribe. In 1885–1887, 1889–90, and 1894–1896 he was a member of the lower house of the General Assembly of Rhode Island, where his work on the Judiciary Committee was especially valuable. In 1885–1887 he was also aide-de-camp, with the rank of colonel, on the staff of Gov. George Peabody Wetmore. In 1889 he was elected city solicitor of Newport, and held this office for several years. In 1897 he served on the commission to revise the constitution of the State. In 1906, when the new city charter of Newport went into effect, Colonel Sheffield was elected a member of the Representative Council from Ward Three of Newport, for the one-year term, and was reëlected to the Council in 1907 for the term of three years. At the beginning of his first term in the Council he was chosen unanimously to be its presiding officer, and continued to preside over the Council during the two years in which he retained his membership in that body. In 1908 he was elected, as a Republican, to represent the First Congressional District of Rhode Island in the United States House of Representatives, in the Sixty-first Congress, taking his seat in December 1909 and serving until the end of this Congress in March 1911. But in the congressional elections of 1910 he was defeated as a candidate for reëlection, and he was again defeated in 1912, when the defection of the Progressives insured in so many districts the election of the Democratic candidates. The confidence which his party reposed in him was shown, however, by his selection in 1911 to be a member of the Republican National Committee, and he continued to hold this position until his death. He was also a member of the committee to revise the constitution of the State.

In educational matters Mr. Sheffield early showed a lively interest. From 1885 to 1894 he was a member of the Newport School Committee, being its chairman for part of this time. He realized the importance of manual training in the public schools, and, with others, established and maintained at Newport a system of private instruction for boys in wood-working. From 1886 on he was a director of the Redwood Library and its secretary for several years, and he was also president of the People's Library. He was an authority on the early history of Newport, and an interesting speaker on topics relating to it.

He was connected with many charitable and financial institutions, was one of the alumni trustees of Brown University, a member of the American Bar Association, a member and secretary of the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati, in which he succeeded his father, and a vestryman of Emmanuel Church.

Mr. Sheffield married, 16 October 1889, Mary Stevens Burdick, who survives him, daughter of Jonathan Truman and Emily (Sherman) Burdick. All of their eight children survived their father, but the eldest, Margaret Burdick, died in Boston, after a brief illness, 26 January 1920. The other children are William Paine, a graduate of Brown University and a lawyer associated with his father's law firm, Mary Morse, Samuel Sanford, a graduate of Brown University in the Class of 1919, now in business in New York, Lilias Sanford, Katherine Ray, Frances, and Elizabeth. His two sons were lieutenants in the United States Army in the World War, the elder son serving for several months in France. Mr. Sheffield's sister, Mrs. Mary (Sheffield) Moriarty, widow of the late George Andrews Moriarty, Esq., also survives him.

The community in which Mr. Sheffield lived appreciated at its true value his well-spent life and realized the loss that it had sustained in his death. His personal characteristics are thus described in a biographical sketch published in the local newspaper:

"Mr. Sheffield was of an unusually genial and happy disposition, and his hospitality knew no bounds. His home life was ideal, and to his children he was always a friend and companion who shared with them their pleasures and activities. In his home and at the camps in which he entertained his many friends he was a charming host, always considerate, ever solicitous of their enjoyment of the many things he shared with them. In every gathering in which he participated for business purposes, he was ever an agreeable entertainer as well as an associate to whom his fellow directors or trustees looked for advice on a wide range of topics. . . . To the various public offices which he had held he brought wide experience in affairs to the successful performance of the manifold and arduous duties which he was called upon to discharge. In the legal profession, not only of Newport but of the state, he was recognized as a leader and his success at the bar for many years was due not only to his extensive legal knowledge but also to the thoroughness of detail and the technical skill which were manifest in every case in which he was engaged. . . . In everything in which he engaged he was to a marked degree a dependable, earnest, efficient and valuable worker . . . . He was above all a man who did all he could for his fellow-man, in whatever condition he found him."*

And the same paper, in an editorial article, says of Mr. Sheffield:

"Few men have a wider range of reading and study, few a more varied knowledge of men and experience of life in all its aspects. Few possess so large a fund of reminiscence and anecdote, ready at a moment's call, and few enjoy more genuinely the telling of a good story or the cracking of an innocent joke. This made him an unusually charming companion and conversationalist, and in any company where he might be found he was fairly certain to be at or near the centre of interest. Withal he was serious-minded, scholarly, thoughtful, and deeply religious—a well-rounded, well-balanced man.

"Possibly both the manner and the place of his death would have been of his own choice. A man of affairs, full of the zest of life, whenever his work should be done he would not have cared to linger idle on the stage. A lover of nature and of nature's sweet solitude and tender intimacies, he had found great delight and comfort in recent years in his summer camp in Exeter. What more fitting, perhaps in his own thought, than that his last walk should be through the familiar woods, that his last moments should be spent beside the lake which he had come so to love?"

According to the probate records "Mary Askins" of Bristol, widow, was appointed administratrix of the estate of her late husband, 23 Oct. 1787; but "Mary" must be a mistake for "Sarah," for on 15 July 1794 Sarah "Askins" of Boothbay, widow, administratrix of the estate of John "Erskine," late of Bristol, deceased, conveyed to Thomas McClure, for £70, 50 acres of land on the "Damascoty river in Bristol" (Lincoln County Deeds), and her gravestone in the Ancient Cemetery at Wiscasset, Me., reads: "Sacred to the memory of Mrs. Sarah, consort of Capt. ## THE DUNNINGS OF MAINE

By Rev. Everett Schermerhorn Stackpole, A.M., D.D., of Bath, Me.

The following genealogy makes various additions to accounts previously published of Andrew Dunning of Brunswick, Me., and his descendants, and corrects many erroneous statements about this family that have appeared in print.

Dunning is an old, Anglo-Saxon clan name. Dunnington, a hamlet of Warwickshire, England, was probably the home of the clan in that county, and is mentioned in records of the twelfth century. In Yorkshire, about the same time, a place called Dunningsley is found. In Scotland, not far from Inverness, is the town of Dunning. The surname Dunning was common in Dorset in the sixteenth century, and a little later it is found in Devonshire. The Scottish records mention persons named Dunning very frequently in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. Robert Dunning was a member of the Scottish Parliament in 1472, 1475, and 1482. James, son of the late John Dunning, was apprenticed to David Dunning, saddler, of Edinburgh in 1597.

* Marie Louise Campion was born in France.

Many Scotch families passed over to the northern part of Ireland about the year 1600. Andrew Dunning was buried at Lough Derry 22 May 1662. His daughter Mary was buried 6 June 1655, as the register of Derry Cathedral, parish of Templemore, Londonderry, Ireland, declares.

Some have tried to connect the Dunnings of Maine with the family of Lord Ashburton, but all evidence is against the claim. John Dunning of Ashburton, lawyer, was born in 1700 and died in 1780. His son John was born 18 Oct. 1731, was admitted to the English bar in 1756, was elected member of Parliament in 1768, married Elizabeth Baring in 1780, was elevated to the peerage in 1782, and died at Exmouth, England, 18 Aug. 1783. He was celebrated for his eloquence and legal abilities. His lands and titles were inherited by his only surviving son, Richard Barr Dunning, who was born 20 Sept. 1782, married 17 Sept. 1805 Anna, daughter of William Cunningham, and died without issue 15 Feb. 1823. He bequeathed the portions of his estate which had long been in the Dunning family to the nearest collateral male heir, if such heir could be found within three months of the testator's death. John Dunning of London, retailer of beer, proved his claim to the estate, and his descendants were living upon it in 1852, as is learned from a letter of George F. Dunning of Farmington, Conn., who visited England in that year and searched in vain for his ancestors. The Dunning family of Maine sent over a representative to investigate their right to the above-named estate, which imagination claimed to be worth fifty millions of dollars. No Dunning in America had any claim whatever to the estate and no connection whatever with the Dunning family of Ashburton, except through the ancient clan.

There were Dunnings in New England at an early date. George Dunning was a settler at New Haven, Conn., as early as 1644, owning a part of the present campus of Yale University. His descendants are numerous. Benjamin Dunning, dealer in leather, had a son Benjamin, who was born in Boston, Mass., 3 Mar. 1679. He probably went to Stratford, Conn., and to Long Island. His brother, John Dunning, settled at Newtown, Conn. A younger brother, Michael Dunning, is said to have married Margaret Foster at Jamaica, Long Island, in 1710, and to have settled at Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., in 1714, where he had sons, Jacob, Samuel, James, and Michael. Hick Dunning married at Hingham, Mass., 7 Dec. 1669, Sarah Joy, daughter of Thomas and Joan (Gallop), and had a son, Edmund, who was born at Hingham 31 Mar. 1672.* Jonathan Dunning was a soldier in King Philip's War in 1676.

It is quite clear that the Dunning family of Brunswick† came over with the so-called Scotch-Irish immigrants of 1717–18 from Londonderry, Ireland. The military enrolment of Andrew Dunning and his sons in 1723 declares that they came from Ireland. But, although sometimes called Irish, they were all Scotch, who had lived for one or two generations in Ireland.

1. ANDREW[1] DUNNING, born about 1664, died at Brunswick 18 Jan. 1736 [?1736/7], aged 72 years. He married, according to tradition, SUSAN BOND, who perished in the burning of her house a year after her husband's death. A negro slave narrowly escaped death at the same time.

Andrew Dunning came to New England in 1717, and in that year bought lots in the town of Brunswick, as the records of the Pejepscot Company declare. The following year, as it seems, his family came over with the immigrants from the north of Ireland. His son, David Dunning, aged 86 in 1793, testified that he had lived in Brunswick "ever since I was a boy of twelve years of age." On 8 Oct. 1767 the same David Dunning deposed "that on or about the year 1718 I came first to Boston and in the same vessel with Mr. Andrew McFadden and his wife (who is now a widow) and that soon after we came to Boston we came down together in the same vessel to the eastern country; that the said McFadden and his wife went to live at a place in merry meeting bay called Somersett.—The deponent adds that he has lived in the town of Brunswick constantly ever since the year one thousand seven hundred and eighteen and within ten or fifteen miles of Somersett aforesaid."*

The ship Maccullum, James Law, master, arrived at Boston from Londonderry, Ireland, 1 Sept. 1718. The same ship sailed from Boston to Merry Meeting Bay on 8 Sept. 1718. Rev. James Woodside in 1723 said in a petition that "he with 40 families, consisting of above 160 persons did in the year 1718 embarque on a ship at Derry Lough in Ireland in order to erect a colony at Casco Bay, in your Majestys Province of Main in New England. That being arrived they made a settlement at a place called by the Indians Pegipscot, but by them Brunswick, within 4 miles from Fort George, where he had a garrison house."

That garrison house was built by the Pejepscot Company at Maquoit, on Middle Bay, in the southerly part of Brunswick. Near by Andrew Dunning bought his lots and built his house, on the farm occupied in 1878 by Patrick McManus. Here he lived as a blacksmith and farmer, "much respected for his integrity and uprightness of Character." He was buried in the old cemetery near the first meeting house, on Main Street, a mile or so south of Bowdoin College, and his gravestone is said to be the oldest one in Brunswick and to have been made by his son James. The inscription reads as follows:

> Here lyeth the Body of Mr Andrew Duning who departed this life Ianawary the 18th Anno Dom 1736 aged 72 Yrs.

* Cf. Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 6, pp. 38-39.

2. Lieut. James[2] Dunning (Andrew[1]), of Brunswick, born in 1691, died 8 June 1752. He married Martha Lithgow, daughter of Capt. Robert, as tradition, supported by the McKeen Manuscripts, says. He lived on the homestead at Maquoit. He was selectman in 1739, 1743, and 1746. He was commissioner to the General Court in 1747, a soldier in Captain Giles's company in 1723–24, and afterwards a lieutenant in the militia. It was, perhaps, his widow whose intention of marriage to Wait Herrick of Nobletown was published 5 Apr. 1759.

3. William[2] Dunning (Andrew[1]), of York, farmer and cordwainer, born about 1700, died at York 13 June 1783. He married at York, 26 Nov. 1724, Deborah Donnell, daughter of Benjamin and Mary (Harmon)* of York and granddaughter of Thomas Donnell. Deborah (Donnell) Dunning died in 1771, in the 67th year of her age, "deserving," as her gravestone says, "the best character as a wife, a mother, a neighbor and a Christian, and will be remembered with great affection and esteem by all who knew her." William Dunning came to Brunswick in 1718, but the attacks of the Indians in 1724 induced him to settle at York.

with his father, first wife, brother James, and several children in the old cemetery, a mile or so south of Bowdoin College. The inscriptions on their slate gravestones are still legible. He married first, in Boston, Mass., 5 Dec. 1735 (Rev. John Moorhead, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, where the marriage is recorded, officiating), MARY TODD, who died 16 Aug. 1784, aged 74, probably daughter of John and Rachel (Nelson) and sister of Andrew Todd of Londonderry, N. H., and of Capt. Alexander Todd of Boston; and secondly, 29 Jan. 1788, MRS. MARY (LITHGOW) HUNTER, daughter of Capt. Robert Lithgow and widow of Capt. Adam Hunter of Topsham. She was a sister of the wife of David Dunning's brother James (2). David Dunning and his second wife were both over eighty years of age at the time of their marriage.

David Dunning came to Brunswick in 1718. He was a soldier in Captain Giles's company in 1723–4, when seventeen years of age. He owned a large part of the land where the village of Brunswick now stands, having bought, 25 Sept. 1730, of Rowling Norton of Salisbury, Mass., 97 acres "bordering on Amos cogen river," as the deed says. This Norton had served with him in Captain Giles's company. On 10 Oct. 1735 David Dunning sold land in Londonderry, N. H., and this indicates, perhaps, a short residence in that place. (Cf. deed at Concord, N. H.)

He built a garrison house in Brunswick, near the spot where the town hall now (1920) stands, and the site has been marked with an appropriate historical tablet. "It was two stories high, forty feet long, and twenty-two feet wide. The second story projected about three or four feet over the first, and the walls had loop-holes for the purpose of enabling the inmates to fire upon the Indians when necessity required. There was a tower on the top, from which the teams could be watched on their way to and from the Merriconeag Marshes." (History of Brunswick, p. 634.)

In this garrison all his children were born. In 1772 he built a house near his garrison, on Main Street, and here he died. Here also his son John kept a tavern, calling it "Washington Hall." It was burned in 1856. When Fort George was dismantled in 1761, David Dunning and Jeremiah Moulton bought the site for £133. 6s. 8d. They owned the water power on both sides of the river and built the first dam and sawmill. Fort George stood where the big cotton mill now stands, at the lower end of Main Street.

An old record says that David Dunning "was one of the most active, enterprising and respected men of his time." He was a deacon in the Congregational Church, the first representative of Brunswick in the General Court of Massachusetts, in 1742–3, a member of the first Board of Selectmen in 1739, a selectman again in 1741 and 1749, and town clerk in 1762. He appears as lieutenant in the militia in 1746 and was commissioned captain by Governor Shirley about 1748. Later in life he was captain of an "Alarm Company." In Jan. 1755 he served twenty-one days in helping to transport stores for the soldiers at Forts Western and Halifax, in Augusta and Winslow, hauling these stores by handsleds on the ice from Arrowsic. In lumbering and military expeditions he learned the value of the surrounding country, and, when the town of Royalsborough, now Durham, was planned in 1762, he bought one-sixteenth of the township. In the division of lots he drew, among others, Lot 91, in the northern part of the town, and in 1783 he gave a deed of it, 75 acres, to his daughter, Elizabeth Stackpole.

A pewter platter, inscribed with the initials D. D., is in the possession of the Stackpole family, and Mrs. Elizabeth (Dunning) Alexander of Harpswell had, in 1900, a silver spoon with the initials A. D., which Andrew Dunning brought with him in 1717.

JOHN DEVEREUX OF MARBLEHEAD, MASS., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS

By Mrs. Frank M. Angellotti of San Rafael, Cal.

This article does not claim to be a record of all the descendants of John Devereux of Salem and Marblehead,† or even of all of those who still bear the Devereux name. Many gaps in the family history could not be filled, as connecting links were missing in public records and private records were not always available. It is hoped that descendants of John Devereux who do not find their names in the following pages will communicate with the compiler of this genealogy.

*According to Register, vol. 12, p. 57, Nathaniel Little's daughter Faith, who died Oct. 27, 1753, aged 8 months, lies buried on his left.

† All places mentioned in this article are situated within the present limits of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, unless another State or region is indicated in the text or may be easily inferred from the context.

1. JOHN[1] DEVEREUX, of Salem and Marblehead, farmer, was born probably about 1615,* came to New England about 1630, perhaps in the fleet with Winthrop, and died between 24 Dec. 1694, when he deposed in court, and 20 May 1695, when his will was proved. He married ANN ———, born about 1620, who survived him and died at Marblehead 26 Apr. 1708, in her 88th year.†

John Devereux of Marblehead, aged about 80 years, deposed on 24 Dec. 1694 "yt about ye yeare of Our Lord One thousand and six hundred and thirty I came over from old England to New England, & ye place of my abode and residence has since been Salem & Marblehead." (Essex Court Files.) The first grant of land to him was in Salem, in 1636. In 1637 a half acre was granted to him for a dwelling house. He was at Marblehead in 1637. He first rented and finally purchased, in 1659, the land in Marblehead which had belonged to Rev. Hugh Peters and which was afterwards known as the "Devereux farm." The old house there is commemorated by Longfellow in his poem called "Driftwood." After John Devereux's death this farm was claimed by Elizabeth Barker of Deptford, England, daughter and heir of Rev. Hugh Peters, as is set forth below in the records relating to the estate of John Devereux; and Robert Devereux, son of John, was at last compelled to buy again, for £350 sterling, the land for which his father had already paid. John Devereux's name appears from time to time in the records and files of the courts of Essex County, Mass., sometimes as a witness and sometimes as plaintiff or defendant in cases coming before these courts.‡ He was admitted as freeman 16 May 1683.

The will of John Devereux, omitting the customary religious phrases and certain legal expressions, is as follows:§

"IN THE NAME OF GOD AMEN the fourth day of September in ye yeare of our lord 1693 . . . I JOHN DEVEREUX of marblehead in the County of Essex in New england Yeoman . . . Doe make . . . And Declare, this my last Will and testament . . . *See deposition of 1694, given below. His age is given also as 45 in 1666 and as 55 in 1672; and at the March Term, 1669, and the November Term, 1670, he deposed, aged 50 years (Vital Records of Marblehead, vol. 3, p. 34). It seems, therefore, impossible to determine the exact year of his birth from the records thus far discovered.

† She deposed in June 1664, aged about 43 years, in Sept. 1666, aged 46 years, and in June 1667, aged about 46 years. (Vital Records of Marblehead, vol. 3, p. 34.)

As has been stated above, the Devereux farm, which John Devereux had lawfully purchased, as he believed, in 1659, was claimed after his death by Elizabeth Barker of Deptford, England, daughter and heir of Rev. Hugh Peters, and the recognition of this claim by Robert Devereux and his mother led to the drawing up of the following petitions, which are undated, but must have been presented not later then 30 Mar. 1704.

"Petition of Anne Devorix of Marblehead widow of John Devorix late of Marblehead and of Robert Devorix only surviving son of sd. John Devorix to the Hon. John Appleton, Esq., Judge of Probate; sheweth that whereas ye said John Devorix was possessed of a considerable Farm being ye principle part of ye estate left by said deceased, which farm was formerly purchased by ye deceased of Charles Gott as agent to Hugh Peters, deceased, who pretended to have full power to sell ye same but on the contrary it appearing that his authority for selling was not sufficient in ye least degree and Elizabeth Barker alias Peters sending ample atturniship fully impowering her atturneys to sell her father's lands which were lawfully descended to her, as only daughter to sd. Hugh Peters & whereas your petitioners took ye best advice that we could of such as were skilled in ye law, who having perused ye papers and original grant to Mr. Hugh Peters informed us that his heir would certainly recover it, whereupon I ye sd Robert Devorix was forced to purchase sd. farm again whereby ye chief part of sd. Estate left as aforesaid is gone from ye surviving children wherefore pray that one of your petitioners, viz. Robert Devorix might have power of administration granted him that so an inventory may be taken and what further may be needful done as near as may be to the will.

"Signed Ann (her A mark) Devereux Robart Devoreux"

"Robert Devorix upon consideration that the greater part of his father's estate hath been taken away by the heir of Mr. Hugh Peters who was prior possessor of that part taken, whereby it is impossible to fully discharge the legacies in the will renounces his executorship of said will and prays for the court's consideration of the within petition. Witness: George Locker, Daniel Rogers."

The Court, having considered these petitions, appointed Robert "Devorix" of Marblehead as administrator cum testamento annexo of the estate of his father, Mr. John "Devorix," late of Marblehead, and he gave a bond, dated 30 Mar. 1704, for £500, Jeremiah Neale and Joseph Neale, both of Salem, being sureties. He was directed to bring in an inventory of the estate at or before the first Monday of December, 1704, and to render an account of his administration at or before the first Monday of July, 1705.

A statement filed by him on 26 July 1708, after his mother's death, reads as follows:

On 25 Mar. 1712 the land of Mr. John "Deuerecks," Sr., in Dunstable, was described as "a therty acer grante where as part is laid out and the remainder may be laid out at the sucksers desier," and was appraised at £25. # A NEW ENGLAND TEMPLE OF HONOR*

By Hon. James Phinney Baxter, A.M., Litt. D.,
President of the New England Historic Genealogical Society

Members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, Ladies and Gentlemen:

We have assembled to celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of our Society in this Pilgrim year, so fraught with precious memories of an event the most important in the annals of New England save the landing of Winthrop, and which will prove to be an acknowledged inspiration to the world if we are able to live up to the ideals of our forefathers; hence I may be pardoned for repeating the trite saying that history is but the record of God's providence, as its repetition cannot fail to be useful until it takes its place among the self-evident truths of the human mind.

In the history of nations there is none in which this truth is more apparent than in our own, since never before has there been a like opportunity afforded to develop a form of government in which the best aspirations of men could find free play. In the Old World autocratic governments, devised for the aggrandizement of a privileged class, have been instrumental in submerging many of their best subjects, which checked their growth and impaired their stability. When James Stuart succeeded Elizabeth Tudor in the royal government of England, he brought with him ill-conceived theories of government, which contributed largely toward precipitating the great revolution in which his son was brought to the block and England made a republic. Elizabeth had been autocratic enough, but she had been wisely restrained by that greatest of English statesmen, William Cecil, while her successor came under the influence of lesser men, who played upon the weak points which he so conspicuously displayed. His excursions into the fields of theological controversy, bringing him into contact with sectarians of extreme views, stimulated his zeal to enforce his own opinions, and, as dissent from the more rigid and artificial forms of doctrine was increasing, he adopted the unwise policy of expatriation, which resulted in the ever memorable landing on Plymouth Rock, the Winthrop colony, and the founding of New England.

Never in the history of any country has so remarkable a body of men as the Pilgrims and the Puritans been so providentially brought together to build a nation; for, whatever may be said to the contrary, history makes evident the fact that the spirit of New England is the true Americanism which is to-day the spirit of the Nation, for it has been aptly said of these pioneers that God sifted the best seed of Old England for planting New England.

In this hearing it hardly seems proper to eulogize these men; they need no eulogy here. For some time, and especially during the past year, there has been a persistent attempt to defame and belittle the Pilgrim and the Puritan, who together rightly earned the title of New England's Founders. Certainly their descendants do not desire to exaggerate the virtues of their ancestors. They would, however, shield them from misrepresentation.

That they wrought faithfully under hardships and privations to lay the foundation of a great commonwealth we have the evidences about us after nearly three centuries. If they sometimes made mistakes, their accomplishments cast their errors into the shade, and these should not be dragged forth by carping critics to obscure their virtues.

The institutions of learning, in which we class not only our schools, our colleges, and churches, but our antiquarian, historical, and genealogical societies, will see to the preservation of the true history of the beginnings of our national history, and none other more faithfully than this Society, whose founders had this single object in view—the study and preservation of the memories of those whose spirit has stamped itself ineffaceably upon the consciousness of New England.

The memory of these men, whose ideal was the creation of a commonwealth in which all men loyal to God and the brotherhood of man should enjoy under His providence civil liberty and the exercise of the rights of private conscience, is especially precious to this Society. Three years ago, as you know, I advocated the erection of a memorial building or Temple of Honor, to commemorate them on this tercentenary of the landing at Plymouth. Several meetings were held to discuss the subject, but the great World War broke upon us, and it was found impossible to carry out the project at this time.

Though it is evident that a memorial building in honor of the Fathers of New England cannot be erected for some time to come, it is certain that it will be at a future day, and I am calling the attention of this Society to the subject on this, as it seems to me, most fitting occasion, that it may be recorded and serve as a reminder of its importance to those who will succeed us.

This Society, I know, will of necessity lead in this great work, and its accomplishment will be of incalculable importance to the people of New England, and, reflectively, to the Nation, many of whose ideals derived from the Fathers of New England have inspired it in achieving its present position among the nations of the world. The men who in the early part of the seventeenth century landed on our North American shores were men of vision, animated by a great purpose, the founding of commonwealths, and their descendants, inheriting the virtues of their fathers, blazed a path through the vast wilderness which barred their way to the West, until they reached the golden gates of the Pacific, and made it possible to exclaim:

> "No pent-up Utica contracts our powers,
> For the whole boundless continent is ours."

These men, with hearts throbbing with the blood of the Fathers of New England, and inspired by their ideals, have given to the Nation many of its noblest characteristics, which must be cherished and preserved if it is to lead as the exemplar of Liberty, Justice, and Brotherhood among the nations of the world. But to accomplish this these descendants of New England fathers must be united in the purpose which three centuries ago animated the men in the little cabin of the Mayflower, when they signed their names to that remarkable declaration of principles which gave vitality to our national constitution. We have reached a period when without the coöperation of the millions who bear the blood of the Founders of New England our high hopes for the future welfare of this country may fail of fruition. The policy of this Society should be to encourage this union.

Let us reflect upon what has happened since the day when we achieved our independence, and threw wide our gates with an all too generous impulse of hospitality. Actuated by a laudable ambition to better their condition, vast numbers of the people of all parts of the world, who had been oppressed by too exacting laws, flocked to our shores, many of them valuable additions to our population. Among them, however, were many who, unfit to avail themselves of the blessings of free government, have proved to be a menace to the Nation's welfare. These advocates and supporters of theories attractive to untrained minds, if not checked, may be the cause of a destructive revolution. How can this be met successfully? The only answer is, by instruction in the principles which actuated the men and women who laid the foundations of these free commonwealths, whose principles have been wrought into our national constitution, which anarchists and their allies would destroy and substitute in its place a thing of their own, in which License would take the place of Liberty, Class Favoritism the place of Equality, and the Nullification of Property Rights the place of Justice. During the past few years we have been receiving a larger percentage than ever before of undesirable immigrants, and now that the war has closed, the nations engaged in it will hold back their able men and burden us with the diseased and feeble unless Congress puts up sufficient barriers against them, which it is unlikely to do.

To the men whom dangerous theorists are daily making their dupes the history of the Founders of our Nation is a closed book, and I believe that the most effective way to deprive the dangerous advocates of false theories of government of an audience is to instruct the uninformed in the principles of those who created the early history of our country. Our churches, our schools, all our philanthropic agencies are doing good work in this field, but they cannot sufficiently impress the uninstructed masses of our varied population. They must be reached by readier means; and few will deny that a building such as I have advocated would not only be a pious tribute to our forefathers but a most effective method of instruction to the masses who would throng its pictorial halls, which would visualize to them not only those who devoted their lives to making here a refuge for the oppressed of all lands, but the striking events of our history. Such a temple would exert an educational influence upon the uninstructed of incalculable worth.

Of course you will agree that such a structure should be of imposing character, emphasizing the worthiest expression of strength, dignity, and simplicity; that it should be built of material from New England quarries, wrought by the hands of New England people, and adorned by the skill of New England artists; and that upon its walls should be pictorially recorded the chief events of New England history—the landing at Plymouth, at Cape Ann, at Salem, at Boston, the genesis of Rhode Island, Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, and Maine. In fact, this building should not only be a memorial of New England's benefactors and a credit to its builders, but it should also be a monument to the skill and art of New England in the twentieth century.

I submit this to you, my friends, and to our successors, who in due time, I have full faith, will carry out this plan with such modification as they may deem wise.

Essex, 26 Apr. 1579, probably died before 13 July 1614, daughter of Sir Jerome, Knight, and Mary (Cave).*

In a calendar of Feet of Fines for Essex is found the following record, dated Michaelmas, 6 James I [1608]: "Sir Edward Pynchon, knt. James Clerke, Esq., William Clerke and Tho. > Jeremiah Clarke, one of the first English Planters of Rhode Island, he died at Newport in said Island and was buried in the tomb that stands by the street by the water side in Newport, upon the — day of the 11 mo., 1651.

He married, perhaps secondly, in England, about 1637, FRANCES (LATHAM) DUNGAN, who was baptized at Kempston, co. Bedford, 15 Feb. 1609/10,* died in the first week in Sept. 1677, in her 67th [sic] year, and was buried at Newport, her gravestone in the Newport cemetery bearing the following inscription:

> Here Lyeth ye Body of Mrs. Frances Vaughan, Alius Clarke, ye mother of ye only children of Capt'n Jeremiah Clarke. She died ye 1 week in Sept., 1677, in ye 67th year of her age.

She was daughter of Lewis Latham, Gent., Sergeant Falconer to King Charles I, by his wife Elizabeth, and widow of William Dungan, Gent., perfumer, who was son of Thomas Dungan, Gent., of Lincoln's Inn, and nephew of Sir Walter Dungan, Bart., of Castletown, Kildrought, and Possecktown, co. About the year 1637 Jeremiah Clarke, accompanied by his wife and her four children by her first husband, William Dungan,‡ and also probably by his wife's widowed sister, Ellen Sherringham, emigrated to New England, and in 1638 was admitted an inhabitant of the island of Aquidneck. On 28 Apr. 1639 he and eight others signed the well-known compact at Pocasset (later Portsmouth), R. I., preparatory to the settlement of Newport. On 25 Nov. 1639 he was chosen constable, and was reëlected in the following spring, and on 29 Jan. 1639/40 he was selected to supply the treasurer's place "till his returne from the Dutch." On 10 Mar. 1639/40 he had land recorded to the amount of 116 acres, and a few days later he and two others were chosen to lay out the remainder of the lands at Newport. On 16 Mar. 1640/1 his name appears in the court roll of freemen. On 17 Mar. 1641/2 he was elected lieutenant of the militia for Newport, and on 13 Mar. 1643/4 he was chosen captain for Newport, then the highest military rank attainable. On the same date he was elected treasurer of Newport, and held this office for three years, and in May 1647 he was elected general treasurer of the Colony, and served in this capacity until 22 May 1649. On 16 May 1648 he was chosen an assistant, and in the same year, pending the clearance of President William Coddington of certain accusations, he was authorized to act, and did act, as President.§

*On this date Jeremiah Clarke's widow, then the wife of Rev. William Vaughan, entered into an agreement with her son Walter Clarke through his guardians John Cranston and James Barker, who are called his brothers-in-law (James Barker having married Walter Clarke's half sister, Barbara Dungan), by which Walter Clarke was to have the dwelling house where his mother lived, with the garden, orchard, and certain lands, which were his inheritance, but his mother was to have possession until 29 Sept., or until tobacco was cured. The house in which Capt. John Cranston lived was to be his, as appeared by deed. Mrs. Vaughan was to pay all debts, etc., and for that purpose had half of a house which she was to sell, and she also had certain lands, household goods, etc., for herself and for the children of Jeremiah Clarke other than Walter. (Cf. Austin, Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island, p. 44.)

†Rev. William Vaughan was one of the original members of the First Baptist Church of Newport, which was organized about the year 1644. He is said to have been ordained in 1648. He was admitted freeman in 1655, and in 1656 organized, with others, the Second Baptist Church of Newport, of which he was the first minister. On 4 Apr. 1676 the Rhode Island Assembly voted: "That in these troublesome times and straits in this Colony, this Assembly desiring to have the advice and concurrence of the most judicious inhabitants if it may be had for the good of the whole, do desire at their next sitting the company and counsel of" sixteen persons, among whom was William Vaughan. (Cf. Austin, op. cit., pp. 211–212.)

ADDENDUM: THE WESTON FAMILY

THROUGH his mother, Mary Weston, Jeremiah Clarke of Rhode Island was related to the Weston family, an Essex family of great prominence in the reigns of the later Tudors and early Stuarts. Richard Weston, uncle of Jeremiah Clarke, was lord high treasurer of England, and was created by King Charles I Earl of Portland. He and several other members of the family were Roman Catholics, either secretly or openly, and in the Civil War most of them were stanch Royalists. Much information about the family may be found in English books, especially in Morant's "History and Antiquities of the County of Essex," Waters's "Genealogical Memoirs of the Extinct Family of Chester of Chicheley," "The Visitations of

*His first wife, Mercy ———, was born in 1631 and died 21 Sept. 1675.

Essex" (Publications of the Harleian Society, vols. 13 and 14), and the "Dictionary of National Biography," and it is chiefly from these authorities that the following Weston pedigree has been compiled, for the purpose of presenting to the readers of the REGISTER an account of some of the noteworthy English connections of the Rhode Island settler.

According to Morant (op. cit., vol. 2, pp. 70–71, 171, reprint of 1816) the family to which Mary Weston and her brother, the Earl of Portland, belonged was descended from MICHAEL DE WESTON, who settled in Essex about 14 Edward I [1286]. The claim that he sprang from an ancient family of Westons in Staffordshire must be rejected. HUMFREY DE WESTON, one of Michael's sons, established himself at Prested Hall, in Feering, co. Essex, where he was living in 1360 and where his descendants flourished until the beginning of the seventeenth century. In the early years of the sixteenth century Prested Hall was held by William Weston (1), with whom the following pedigree begins.

1. WILLIAM WESTON, of Prested Hall, Feering, co. Essex, and of London, mercer, died between 20 June 1514, the date of his will, and 6 Feb. 1514/15, when his will was proved. He married MARGARET ———, who was living 20 June 1514, but from his will it is apparently to be inferred that she was not his first wife.

In his will he directs that if he dies in the parish of All Hallows, Honey Lane, London, he is to be buried in the churchyard "between my father's seller window and the bordyd dore of my parlor, as nigh unto the Church wall as may be." He bequeaths to the "Masyndewe" [Maison Dieu] at Dover, on condition that the Master and Brethren pray for the souls of Sir Harry Overe, John Chapman, Robert Basey, and Agnes Sislington. He bequeaths to his cousin Joan with his sister at Keldon [Kelvedon, co. Essex] 6s. 8d., and to his sister 10s. One third part of his estate is to be divided between his five children, viz., to Master Weston in the New College at Oxford £5, to Richard Weston £10, to Thomas and John Weston £20 each, and the residue to Mary Weston on her marriage. One other third part of his estate is given to Margaret, his wife, and also his manor of Prested Hall in Essex in the parishes of Feering and Messing, for her life, with remainder to his children. Executors: his said wife Margaret, Master William Weston, her eldest son, and Thomas Weston, her son. (P. C. C., Fettiplace, 31.)

Child, probably by first wife:

i. RICHARD, of Prested Hall and Colchester, co. Essex, mentioned in his father's will, and said by Morant (op. cit.) to be the eldest son; d. in 1541; m. ELIZABETH ———. Child: 1. *John.

Children by second wife, living 20 June 1514:

ii. WILLIAM.

*Robert Weston, of Prested Hall, Esq., son and heir of this John, died 6 June 1601. He married Dorothy ———, who survived him and married (2) Thomas Fuller, Gent. Robert Weston left two daughters, coheirs, Anne, aged 9 years and 3 months, and Mary, aged 5 years and 10 months. Mary probably died young. Her sister Anne married Dean Tindall of Great Maplestead, co. Essex, Esq., and the estate of Prested Hall was brought by this marriage into the Tindall family, and thence passed by sale into other hands. (Morant, op. cit., vol. 2, p. 171.)

2. iv. JOHN.

2. JOHN WESTON (William), fourth son of his father, was probably the father of

3. i. RICHARD, b. in 1510.
ii. A DAUGHTER, m. JOHN SLADE of Coventry, co. Warwick. Children: 1. Mary, unm. in 1572, when she is mentioned in her uncle Richard's will. 2. Joan, living in 1572, when she is mentioned in her uncle Richard's will; m. (marriage settlement dated 1 Apr., 12 Elizabeth [1570]) John Milborne of Marks Hall in Dunmow, co. Essex, Gent., whose inquisition post mortem was taken in 1594; had issue.

3. RICHARD WESTON (? John, William), of Writtle and Roxwell, co. Essex, the testator of 1572, is said by Morant (op. cit.) to have been a son of John Weston (2), and Morant's statement is probably correct.† He was born in 1510, and died 6 July 1572. He married first, about 1549, WIBURGA (CATESBY) JENOUR, who died in 1553, daughter of Anthony Catesby of Whiston, co. Northampton, Esq., by his wife Wiburga (Pigott), and widow of Richard Jenour of Great Dunmow, co. Essex, Esq.;‡ secondly, before 1558, MARGARET BURNABY, whose burial on 10 Apr. 1565 is recorded at Roxwell, but who, according to her husband's will, was buried in the parish church of Writtle, daughter of Eustace of Watford, co. Northampton, Esq.; and thirdly, at Chicheley, co. Bucks, 7 July 1566, ELIZABETH (LOVETT) (CAVE) NEWDIGATE, who was buried at Chicheley 21 Aug. 1577, daughter of Thomas Lovell of Astwell, co. Northampton, Gent., by his wife Anne (Danvers), and widow of Anthony Cave of Chicheley, Esq. (who died 9 Sept. 1558), and of John Newdigate of Harefield, co. Middlesex, Esq., M. P. (who died in 1565).

Richard Weston was educated for the profession of law, and was called to the bar at the Middle Temple, London, where he was reader in the autumn of 1554. He became eminent in his profession, and with the proceeds of his lucrative practice purchased in 1554 the manor of Skreens in Roxwell, which became the family seat. On 10 Oct. 1555 he was returned to Parliament for Maldon, co. Essex, on 20 Nov. 1557 he was appointed solicitor-general, on 13 Feb. 1558/9 he was made Queen's sergeant, and on 16 Oct. 1559

*Morant (op. cit.) inserts before Mary a daughter Margaret.

†The arms of Richard Weston were: Ermine, on a chief azure five bezants, with a martlet for difference. These arms are found on the tomb of his daughter, Lady Tichborne, in Winchester Cathedral, and were allowed to his grandson, Sir Richard Weston, afterwards Earl of Portland, in the Visitation of Essex in 1612. The mark of cadency in these arms proves that Richard Weston or his father was a fourth son. (Waters's The Chesters of Chicheley, vol. 1, p. 95.)

‡Cf. Jenour and Weston pedigrees in Visitation of Essex, 1612 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 13, pp. 222, 319), and Catesby pedigree in Metcalfe's Visitations of Northamptonshire, p. 174. According to the Dictionary of National Biography Wiburga, first wife of Richard Weston, was "daughter of Thomas Catesby of Seaton, Northamptonshire" [sic]. According to the Visitation of Rutland, p. 33 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 3), she was daughter of Michael Catesby of Seaton in co. Rutland, and similar statements may be found in Waters's The Chesters of Chicheley, pp. 96, 108, and in Morant (op. cit.), except that Morant places Seaton in Northamptonshire. The Jenour pedigree in the Visitation of Essex, 1612, gives to Richard and Wiburga (Catesby) Jenour five sons and two daughters.

he was appointed justice of the Court of Common Pleas, holding this office until his death. He died possessed of a large estate, which included, besides the manor of Skreens, the manor of Netteswell, lands in Netteswell, Great and Little Parndon, Harlow, and Latton in Essex, the manor of St. Lawrence Hall, lands in East and West Tilbury, co. Essex, and other manors and lands. On 21 July 1558 Queen Mary granted to him and to his wife Margaret the manor of Garnett and Marks and the manor of Long Barnes, including Fraies in Beauchamp-Roding, Essex, with appurtenances.

Children by first wife:

4. i. JEROME, son and heir, b. probably in 1550.
   ii. AMPHILLIS, m. SIR BENJAMIN TICHBORNE, of Tichborne, co. Hants, Bart. They had issue.

Children by second wife:

   iii. NICHOLAS, under twenty-one on 4 July 1572.
   iv. WINIFRED, under eighteen on 4 July 1572; d. unm.; bur. at Roxwell 3 Mar. 1590/1.
   v. MARGARET, bapt. at Roxwell 3 May 1564; m. (1) JOHN LOVEDAY, Esq.; m. (2) ANDREW GLASCOCK of Eltham Park, Kent, Esq.

4. SIR JEROME WESTON (Richard, ? John, William), of Skreens in Roxwell, co. Essex, Knight, the testator of 1603, born probably in 1550 (he was twenty-two years old at his father's death), died 31 Dec. 1603, and was buried at Roxwell 17 Jan. 1603/4. He married first, at Chicheley, co. Bucks, 25 Nov. 1572, MARY CAVE,* born 1 Nov. 1556, buried at Roxwell 6 Oct. 1593, youngest daughter and coheir of Anthony of Chicheley, co. Bucks, Esq., by his wife Elizabeth (Lovett), who became the third wife of Richard Weston (3) and therefore stepmother of Sir Jerome Weston; and secondly MARGERY (PERT) THWAITES, daughter of George Pert of Mountnessing, co. Essex, and of London, Esq., by his wife Alice, and widow of William Thwaites of the manor of Newland Hall, co. Essex, an alderman of London. Sir Jerome Weston's second wife is not mentioned in his will, and therefore probably died before 28 Dec. 1603, when the will was made.

Sir Jerome Weston was high sheriff of Essex in 1599, and was knighted by King James I at the Charterhouse 11 May 1603. At his death he held, besides other estates formerly held by his father, the manor of Neyland, co. Suffolk, and the manor of Berwick Hall in White Colne, co. Essex.

His Christian name is spelled in various ways, such as "Gerrom," "Hierome," "Jeromye," etc. Two of his daughters had sons named Jeremy, viz., Ann Williams and Mary Clarke, and his daughter Elizabeth Cotton had a son named Jerome; and all three of these children were probably named for their grandfather, Sir Jerome Weston.

*Anne Cave, second daughter of Anthony and Elizabeth (Lovett), married Griffith Hampden of Great Hampden, co. Bucks, Esq. Their son and heir, William Hampden, married Elizabeth Cromwell, daughter of Sir Henry Cromwell, Knight, and aunt of Oliver Cromwell, the Protector. William and Elizabeth (Cromwell) Hampden were the parents of the statesman and patriot, John Hampden. John Hampden and Jeremiah Clarke of Rhode Island were, therefore, second cousins. (Cf. Waters's The Chesters of Chicheley, vol. 1, pp. 89–92.)

Children by first wife:

i. ANNE, b. about 1574; living 2 May 1629; m. at Roxwell, 6 Dec. 1590, JOHN WILLIAMS of Brentwood, co. Essex, Esq. John Williams was a barrister of the Middle Temple, but was expelled in 1612, charged with being a popish recusant. In 1619 he was arrested on suspicion of being a Catholic priest. On being searched a pamphlet entitled "Balaam's Ass," with annotations, was found in his possession; and he admitted that he was the author of it. He was arraigned for high treason, having predicted in his pamphlet that the King would die in the year 1621, was convicted 3 May 1619, and on the Monday following was hanged, drawn, and quartered over against the Mews at Charing Cross. He and his wife Anne had several children, one of whom, Robert, was bapt. at Roxwell 12 Mar. 1599/1600, and another, Jeremy, was mentioned in the will of Sir Edward Pinchon, husband of his aunt Dorothy (4, vii), declared 5 Mar. 1626/7.

ii. SIR RICHARD, first Earl of Portland, heir of his father, b. at his grandmother's house in Chicheley, co. Bucks; bapt. at Chicheley 1 Mar. 1576/7; d. at Wallingford House, Westminster, 13 Mar. 1634/5; m. (1) ELIZABETH PINCHON, who was bur. at Roxwell 12 Feb. 1602/3, dau. of William of Writtle, co. Essex, Esq., by his wife Rose (Readinge), and sister of Sir William Pinchon, Knight, who m. Sir Richard's sister, Dorothy Weston (4, vii); m. (2) before Mar. 1605 FRANCES WALDEGRAVE, who d. in 1645 (her will, dated 24 Feb. 1643/4 and proved 6 Apr. 1645, being recorded in P. C. C., Rivers, 64), dau. and coheir of Nicholas of Borley, co. Essex, Esq., by his wife Catherine (Browne). Sir Richard Weston was educated for the legal profession at the Middle Temple, was returned to Parliament 28 Sept. 1601 for his grandfather's old constituency, Maldon, co. Essex, was knighted by King James I at Whitehall on 23 July 1603, was returned to Parliament for Midhurst, co. Surrey, at a by-election, 29 Mar. 1604 (not having been returned for Maldon at the general election in Feb. 1603/4), held various offices under the Crown and received from the King from time to time large sums of money, was knight of the shire for Essex in the Short Parliament of Apr.-June 1614, was sent abroad on an important diplomatic mission in 1620, was appointed chancellor and undertreasurer of the Exchequer 29 Jan. 1620/1, was made a member of the Privy Council about the same time, entered Parliament again as member for Arundel, co. Sussex, 22 Nov. 1621, was sent to the Continent again in the diplomatic service the following year, was returned to succeeding Parliaments for various boroughs, was raised to the peerage as Baron Weston of Neyland on 13 Apr. 1628, and on 23 July 1628 was appointed lord high treasurer. He had great influence with King Charles I, especially in financial matters and in foreign relations, on 9 Apr. 1630 he was made a knight of the Garter, and on 17 Feb. 1632/3 the King created him Earl of Portland. At heart he had long been a Roman Catholic, having doubtless been influenced by the fact that his wife and some of his sisters were zealous adherents of the Church of Rome. On the Sunday before his death King Charles visited him, and the Earl acknowledged that he was a Catholic and begged His Majesty to take back the treasurer's staff, which he considered himself disqualified to retain on account of his religion and his illness. The King assured him of his continued favor. "Only get better," he said, "and the Catholic religion shall not prevent your retaining the staff." On the Friday following, however, 13 Mar. 1634/5, he died, having received the last sacraments from the hands of a Catholic priest. He was buried in Winchester Cathedral 24 Mar. 1634/5. His will, which is not to be found in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, is described in the Strafford Papers, vol. 1, pp. 388–389

[Concluded from vol. 72, page 63]

In the Register of January 1918 abstracts of sundry English wills and also various entries found in the parish registers of Horncastle,

*For abstract of Sir Edward Pinchon's will see Register, vol. 48, p. 252, or Waters's Genealogical Gleanings in England, vol. 2, p. 856. William Pinchon of Springfield, co. Essex, who was mentioned in Sir Edward Pinchon's will, was a son of John and Frances (Brett) Pinchon and first cousin of Sir Edward Pinchon. He is well known as the founder of Springfield, Mass. Abstracts of many wills of members of the Pinchon or Pynchon families and those connected with them, together with a Pinchon pedigree, may be found in Register, vol. 48, pp. 241–263, or in Waters's Genealogical Gleanings in England, vol. 2, pp. 845–867.

co. Lincoln, were printed, which confirmed and supplemented what had previously been published about the English ancestry and connections of the three Freestone sisters, Frances, Ann, and Elizabeth, who emigrated to Boston, Mass., in the first decade of its existence as an English settlement. From those records, from the pedigrees of Freeston, Hutchinson, and Rathbecke published in "Lincolnshire Pedigrees" (Publications of the Harleian Society, vols. 50–52), and from other authorities referred to below, the two following pedigrees have been compiled.

   In his will, dated 16 Jan. 1570/1, he left money for the repair of the parish churches at Ashby Puerorum and Somersby, and among the many beneficiaries names Henry Frestonne. He appointed his wife Anne and his son George executors, and Thomas Frestonne was one of the witnesses.

RAITHBECK

1. ——— RATHBECKE, probably of Horncastle, co. Lincoln, was the father of

2. i. THOMAS, b. about 1520.
3. ii. WILLIAM, mentioned in his brother Thomas's will.

2. THOMAS RATHEBECKE, son of No. 1, of Horncastle, co. Lincoln, yeoman, the testator of 26 Oct. 1575, born about 1520, was buried at Horncastle 31 Oct. 1575. He married first ———; and secondly, at Horncastle, 13 June 1575, DOROTHY (———) (HUTCHINSON) HUNTER, who survived him, and in her will, dated 31 Jan. 1591/2 and proved 5 Apr. 1592 (vide REGISTER, vol. 72, page 57), supplies much important information on the connections between the Hutchinson, Freestone, and Neale families. She had married first William Hutchinson, citizen and alderman of the city of Lincoln, whose will, dated 4 Jan. 1556/7, was proved 6 Mar. 1556/7 (vide REGISTER, vol. 51, page 118, or Waters's Genealogical Gleanings in England, vol. 2, p. 1260), and by him she had six children;‡ secondly, at Horncastle, 17 Aug. 1562, Robert Hunter of Horncastle; and thirdly Thomas Rathebecke, who bequeathed to her the household stuff and all manner of things that she had brought with her and also appointed her his full executor during her life. Her sons Christopher Hutchinson and Thomas Hutchinson were to be joint executors of his will after her death. Thomas Rathebecke left a considerable estate, including silver plate, twenty "silver spoons of the Apostles," and mills and lands lying in five different parishes.

Children by first wife:

*Valentine Hill married (2) Mary Eaton, and had children by her. Cf. Savage's Genealogical Dictionary of New England, vol. 2, p. 420.

†Cf. Essex Institute Historical Collections, vol. 48, pp. 265, 268, 273–274.

‡Cf. Register, vol. 20, p. 356, and Lincolnshire Pedigrees, vol. 2, pp. 535–536 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 51).

4. i. ROBERT, probably b. at Horncastle about 1542.
5. ii. JAMES.

3. WILLIAM RATHEBECKE, son of No. 1, was living 26 Oct. 1575, when he was mentioned in the will of his brother Thomas. Child:

6. i. THOMAS.*

4. ROBERT RAITHEBECKE (Thomas), of Horncastle, co. Lincoln, draper, the testator of 9 Apr. 1571, probably born at Horncastle about 1542, died before his father, and was buried at Horncastle 11 Apr. 1571. He married, probably about 1561, MARGARET HUTCHINSON, daughter of William and Dorothy (———) of Lincoln, and his wife's mother became later, after his death, the second wife of his father (vide supra, 2). Margaret (Hutchinson) Raithebecke survived her husband and married secondly, at Horncastle, 14 July 1572, Francis Shaw.

That Robert Raithebecke's wife was Margaret Hutchinson is evident from passages in several wills. In his own will (vide REGISTER, vol. 72, page 56) Robert Raithebecke mentions Margaret, his wife, "my brother and my sister Neale," and also "John Neale, my brother-in-law;" and this will was made more than four years before Margery Neale's mother was married to the testator's father, so that the "brother" and "sister" Neale mentioned were not the stepbrother and stepsister of the testator. Dorothy (———) (Hutchinson) (Hunter) Raithbeck, widow of Thomas Raithebecke (the father of Robert), in her will dated 31 Jan. 1591/2 and proved 5 Apr. 1592 (vide REGISTER, vol. 72, page 57), mentions Thomas Raithbecke, Ann Hammerton, and Frauncis Freestone, who were children of Robert Raithebecke and her own grandchildren, if Robert's wife was her daughter; and she also mentions, among others, her daughter "Margerye Neall," Robert Raithbeck, "sone to James Raithbeck" (and therefore her third husband's grandson), the children of Robert Freestone, who was the husband of Robert Raithebecke's daughter Frances, and her (the testatrix's) son [i. e., son-in-law] John Neall. Robert Freestone and Thomas Hammerton were appointed supervisors of her will, and John Neale was one of the executors. John Neall, of Horncastle, tanner, the husband of Margery (Hutchinson) Neale, in his will dated 31 Aug. 1594 and proved 11 Feb. 1594/5 (vide REGISTER, vol. 51, page 121, or Waters's Genealogical Gleanings in England, vol. 2, page 1262), bequeathed to Robert Freestone, Thomas Raithebecke, and Thomas Hamerton, among others, and "to every of their wives." Margery (Hutchinson) Neale, of Horncastle, widow, sister of Margaret (Hutchinson) Raithebecke, in her will dated 10 July 1611 and proved 10 May 1613 (ib.), mentions among others Anne Hamerton, "my niece," and her son Nicholas,

*In Lincolnshire Pedigrees, vol. 3, p. 813, this Thomas is given erroneously as a son of Thomas Rathebecke (2).

Robert Freeston's son Robert and daughters Margery ("my god daughter"), Anne, and Mary, and Thomas Rathbecke, "my late nephew's son," and his sister Margaret. It is to be noted that neither John Neall nor his widow Margery mentioned in their wills the children of James Raithebecke, Robert's brother, as they would probably have done if the children of James had been as nearly related to the testators as the children of Robert. Now Margaret Hutchinson, daughter of William and Dorothy and sister of Margery (Hutchinson) Neale, was, according to her father's will, unmarried and under twenty-one years of age on 4 Jan. 1556/7. She is not otherwise accounted for, and was undoubtedly the Margaret who became the wife of Robert Raithebecke, whose first child, according to the records thus far discovered, was baptized 24 May 1562.

LETTERS FROM JAMES AND JOANNA SAMPSON IN ENGLAND, 1711, 1730/1

Communicated by Miss Ciara Carroll Hewins of Dedham, Mass.†

According to a communication from Mrs. Charles L. Alden (Register, vol. 43, page 325) Lewis Sweeting of Somersetshire, England, had sons Lewis and Henry, one or both of whom took part in Monmouth's Rebellion. The two brothers escaped from England and settled at Rehoboth, Mass., where Lewis died 7 Apr. 1725 and Henry died 8 Apr. 1728. Henry Sweeting married first, probably in England, Joanna ———, who was buried at Rehoboth 6 Sept. 1687; and secondly Martha ———, who died at Rehoboth 19 —— 1708. By his first wife he had a daughter Mary, born probably in England, died at Rehoboth 18 Aug. 1738, who married (intention recorded at Rehoboth 16 Oct. 1708) Noah[3] Mason, born at Rehoboth 17 Dec. 1678, died there 29 Aug. 1744, son of Noah[2]

(Sampson[1]) and his second wife, Sarah (Fitch), and also a daughter Joanna, who was born at Rehoboth 29 Aug. 1687 and, as the following letters show, married in England, 27 Mar. 1711, James Sampson. Henry Sweeting also had issue by his second wife.*

The letters given below were written from England by James Sampson and his wife Joanna to their brother and sister Mason at Rehoboth, and contain much interesting information about the English life and the family connections of the writers. The first two letters were written on the two halves of one sheet of paper. The three letters formerly belonged to Miss Esther A. Mason of Providence, R. I., now deceased, a granddaughter of Mason Barney, a shipbuilder, in a table drawer in whose house at North Swansea, Mass., the third letter was found.

My Dear Bro^r & Sister Mason

I have a gratefull remembrance of y^e many favours rec^d at your hands, (especially from you my very dear Sister w^n I was at Bristol,) and I now acquaint you that with great joy I read (in your letter to my Dearest, your very good Sister) the account of yo^r safe arivall, tho' after so long & troublsome a Voiage, I Sympathize with you in the Greif you met with from your bad company, and am Glad to find that any of the Goods you Bo^t sold to Advantage.

We follow'd yo^r Direction viz to take up the 20£ you had in Grandmothers hands, and have laid it out in Cardes, but could not do it soon eno' to send e'm by Capt Everton. We have desired my Bro^r Richard to buy e'm at Bristol fair, and that he might not err Serena gave him a Carde (She borrow'd) for a Pattern, when he was here the other week: I heartily wish they may go Safe & also sell for good Profitt. You may be assur'd at yo^r request I shall be ready to do any thing for you that's within the Verge of my Power.

We have order'd the Cardes to be sent either to Boston or Road Island by any Ship M^r Bodenham knows the Capt of to be a honest man; if to Boston then to be left with M^r Ellis Kallender, and if to Road Island, then with M^r John Kallender in Swansey, but if no Ship now at Bristol is going to one of y^e above nam'd places then to be sent in the Hopewell, Capt Vir commander, wherein Coz: Burroughs and his Familey goes, by whom this comes, and also the Bonnets, and have desired him to send all by a Ship from Pensilvania either to Boston or Road Island directed as above.

Serena & I sent two letters to [worn, ? her] Hon^rd Father, in May last which I hope came safe to hand, at least one of e'm, for they were of one import, to wit. that we were Married the 27^th of March last, and that y^e 29^th we went for Exon, and were at Exon when y^e letters were writ. I came from thence often to Preach here, but we did not come to settle at Dunster† till the 2^d of June, and then my Mother came with us & tarried here a fortnight. My Sister once before came here with us when we rid over to see Grandm^o at Whitsuntide, she being at that time very weak, but hath recover'd since, and been well considering her Age, tho' at times disorders have attended, but now through Mercy she is in pretty good Health, and remembers to Father & you.

Blessed be the Lord our meeting increaseth here. Sarah Bartlet was Baptised ye 2^d instant by Mr Whinnel, who Preacht and Administerd the Lords Supper y^e 1^st whiles I was at Taunton in his place. The 9^th instant we went to Taunton with the Widow Slocomb, and she was then Baptized by Mr Whinnel. Mr Slocomb died the 22d May, and the 26th I Preach'd his Funeral Sermon, just after he was Inter'd, from Job 5. 26 and thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age like as a shock of corn cometh in his season. A text of his own chusing. Many persons of all sorts but Quakers attended the meeting. Mr Caleb Spurrier is much reform'd, and we hope 'twill not be long before he will be Baptized. Young Mr Bampton and his wife of late have frequented our Meeting, especially she, and others of the Town now and then, since Mr Slocombs funeral. But Mr Blackford and Mr Kymer do what they can to prevent persons leaving the Church, tho' poor Mr Kymer hath been weak above these 3 months and I think han't Preach'd more than twice, so that at Church there's nothing but Prayers, unless at a Certain time when they get one from abroad to Preach.

We live in the House where Mr Spurrier Senior did. Our people seem very kind, and are willing to do what they can for us, they have subscrib'd to give me £24: 10: 0 ℔ annum. I have undertaken some business of selling wool, but all Unkles Balls promises to me of Assistance are just come to nought. I have writ you more particularly thereof in a letter dated the 24th instant, so that we must look to ourselves and I hope by Divine blessing we shall live comfortably, My Bror Richard will sell at Exon what Wool I can have from Ireland, he hath sold a good parcell of Wool and Oyle already, which I bot at Mynhead,* to Advantage, and saith he thinks he can dispose of an hundred Packs a Year. I hope both you and we shall take care to Live, 'tis our duty to be Diligent in Business, but yet we shou'd cast our Care, yea all our Care upon the Lord, for then He careth for us. None can add one Cubit to his Stature by taking tho't, therefore we ought to commit all into his Hands who hath the Care of the whole Univers, but especially of his own Children. Let us remember Religion reacheth thro' our whole lives, and that as we must not be Slothfull in Business so we must be fervent in Spirit Serving the Lord. My dear Bror & Sister, let not the affairs of this life hinder you from minding Cheifly that which is to come. And that you may always be Heavenly & Spiritual, take heed to be instant and faithfull in Prayer, each in your Closets, and also every day Pray to the Lord together, and ever be Zealous for his publick Worship, Psa: 87. 2 The Lord loveth the gates of Zion more then all the Dwelings of Jacob. My humbe Duty to our Honrd Father, Dear Love to the rest of my Brors & Sisters tho' unknown. I remaine,

Yor affectionate Bror

Dunster July 26 1711 James Sampson

Post Script My Dearest imagins you'll admire who I mean by Serena, but I am not of her mind for I think the name belongs to her, for I know none deserves the name better than her self, and perhaps you may be of the same opinion for you know if she's well she is pleasant & Clear & Calm.

My very Dear Sister

Yours of the 17 Jenuary 1710/11 came to hand about the 19 or 20th of may last. I desire still to praise the Lord that you got well home tho' through' many Dangers O my Dear Sister let us endeavour always to keep a deep sence of the Divine goodness upon our Hearts that wee may be more and more led to repentence, for 'tis those that morn shall be comforted. Sorrow for sin & joy in the Lord is not inconsistant even at the same time. I thought meet to observe your order to take up the 20£ of Grand mother, and if I had not done it the very day I did, I presume unkle Ball would have hinder Grand mother from paying it because you did not send over the note you had under Grand mothers hand, but it being paid you are now by me for their sattisfaction, desired to send me the note by the first opportunity.

*Minehead, co. Somerset, on the Bristol Channel, a short distance northwest from Dunster.

Grand mother hath since our marriage made her Will or unkle Ball for her, but neither of us know any thing of it nor can wee find any person else knows besides them.

Last Year I rec^d^ yo^rs^ dated Aug^st^ 6. 1729. from Boston and Sent you my Thanks for yo^r^ Kindness Shown in going thither, that you might get a Bill for the twenty five Pounds given us on our Hon^rd^ Father Sweeting's Will, and the Value of the Plate. We hope the gracious Lord who loveth Faithfullness will reward you. It wou'd be a Comfort to us if we were nearer to you, but the great God who has determined the Bounds of our Habitations, Seems to have fixt our abode in this Town, tho' we have had our many Afflictions here yet hope have been enabled to serve his Will in our Generation, and he has been pleas'd to Settle in a Business, whereby there's a Prospect of having our daly Bread, for w^ch^ we desire to bless his holy Name. Our last Child call'd Thomas died in December 1729. Our eldest Son Richard is gone for East India, we have only two living with us, viz James & Joanna, w^ch^ are promising Children, and give their Duty to their Uncle & Aunt &c. Last Year we wrote you an Order by Capt. Jn^o^ Talamy that you wou'd be pleas'd to pay him what was due to us, whom we think to be a faithfull Man, and expected on his Return Shou'd have not fail'd of receiving it, but he saies, that tho' he carefully Sent our Letter to you and also one for Bro^r^ Jn^o^ Sweeting the Executor, and another for Sister Hunt, with Direction where to Speak with him, yet he neither heard from nor Saw either of you, w^ch^ we think very Strange because you wrote all was in yo^r^ Hand, and ready to be paid forthwith to our Order. This comes therefore with our earnest desire and punctual Order that you will not fail to pay the Said twenty five Pounds to the Said Mr Jno Talamy, and also the true Value of the Plate, or otherwise Send the Plate it Self by him, for unto him we have entirely committed the Care of the whole, and he has promised to act for us, as for himself. He will take Care to Send you a Line Seasonably, where and when you may Speak with him. We beg you will take particular Care in this Affair, that we may not be disappointed this Year also. You know Faithfullness was Shown in making you the Remittance of near two Hundred Pounds given you by our good Grandmo Attkins. Therefore if any more than whats mention'd Appears to be our due 'tis hoped you will remitt it by the Said Mr Tallamy, for we doubt not of his bringing it all (if The good Lord Sends him Safe Home) In our next wch we intend to Send by his Hand, you may have more Particulars, concerning any Thing omitted in this. We tender you & our good Sister yor Spouse & all yor Children our Sincere Love, and to all our Brors & Sisters &c and remaine

Yor loving Bror & Sister

INSCRIPTIONS IN THE TOWN CEMETERY AT THE VILLAGE OF BAKERSFIELD, VT.

Copied and communicated by Herbert Williams Denio, A.M., of New York City

The town of Bakersfield is situated in the eastern part of Franklin County, Vt., fifteen miles east from St. Albans, the shire town. It is bounded on the north by the town of Enosburg, on the east by Avery's Gore and the town of Waterville, on the south by the town of Fletcher, and on the west by the town of Fairfield. In January 1791 a charter for 10,000 acres of land in what is now Bakersfield was issued by the State of Vermont to Luke Knowlton, who in the following month sold this grant to Joseph Baker for 500 pounds lawful money. In 1792 the town of Smithfield, containing 23,000 acres, which had been chartered by New Hampshire in 1763,† was dismembered by Vermont, and a part of it was joined to Knowlton's grant and was named Bakersfield, the remainder constituting a large part of the town of Fairfield.

Joseph Baker settled in 1789 or 1790 in the region afterwards included in the town that bore his name. Among the earliest settlers there were Jonathan Farnsworth, Stephen Maynard, Baker's son-in-law, Jonas Brigham, Jeremiah Pratt, and Luke Potter, all coming from southern Vermont or Massachusetts. These all died and were buried in Bakersfield, and some of their descendants are still living in the town. Other early settlers were Thomas Barnes, Elisha Parker, Silas Hazeltine, Amory Parker, William Perkins, Ebenezer Williams, Amos Town, Eben Barlow, Joseph Wilkinson, and Azariah Corse. Gravestones of members of all these families are in the town cemetery.

*Tiverton is in Devonshire, fourteen miles north from Exeter.

†In 1775 New York granted about the same tract of land to other proprietors.

In 1796 there were twenty freemen, legal voters, in the town. In 1799 thirteen more voters had qualified. In 1800 forty new families moved into the town. The population to-day is about 1100. The first death in the town was that of Isaac Freeman Farnsworth, in 1798; the second, that of Elisha P. Pratt, a boy of eleven years, in the same year.

The land for the town cemetery was given by Joseph Baker, who also gave the "Common" adjoining it on the west, near the south end of the village. About 1865 the cemetery was extended by purchase towards the east. By the will of Peter Bent Brigham, a native of the town, who in his youth had gone to Boston to seek his fortune and who died in 1877, the town received a gift of $10,000, the income of which is to be used in caring for the cemetery in which his parents were buried. This restriction, therefore, prevents the expenditure of any of the income in caring for any other cemetery. Before this time the cemetery had presented the usual appearance of a New England burying ground; but, on the acceptance of this gift by the town, the task of improvement was begun. Weeds and overgrown shrubbery were removed, most of the trees were cut down, the ground was levelled, lot fences and footstones were taken away, paths and driveways were gravelled, flowers and shrubs were planted, and trees were set out along the paths and fence. Later the old portion of the cemetery was extended southwards, and the highway was properly located. The Common, which in the years immediately preceding had been used chiefly for ball games and circuses, was fenced in and planted with flowers by the town, and was brought into harmony with the cemetery. The cemetery is now well cared for, the grass is cut with hand lawn mowers, and an attractive appearance has been given to the whole enclosure.

Of late years not a few French Canadians—for the cemetery is free to all residents of the town—have selected this place for the burial of members of their families, for they know that the grounds will always be cared for. In another part of the village there is a Roman Catholic cemetery, opened about 1865, the care of which devolves upon the owners of the individual lots. The town cemetery at East Bakersfield, the inscriptions in which were printed in the REGISTER of July 1919 (vol. 73, pp. 186–188), has, perhaps, not been used for interments for more than forty years.* Many former residents of the district known as "Egypt," in the west part of the town, are buried in a cemetery just across the town line, in Fairfield.

*In REGISTER, vol. 73, p. 186, it was stated that "the inscription of latest certain date" in the East Bakersfield cemetery was that of Benjamin Upton, who died 1 Jan. 1877. It has been ascertained, however, that the date on the gravestone of Daphne C., wife of H. W. Dunham, of which, on account of the breaking of the stone, only the word "June" was legible, was originally "June 11, 1877," and therefore Daphne C. Dunham was the last person to be buried in that cemetery for whom there is a gravestone.

The following inscriptions were copied verbatim in August 1917 from the monuments and gravestones found in the town cemetery adjoining the Common at Bakersfield. They were revised in August 1918, when a few additions were made to the copy. Except for the earliest burials, or when it is otherwise stated, it may be understood that most of the persons buried in this cemetery were born in the town, and it is believed that all persons buried out of town for whom inscriptions exist in this cemetery have been indicated below in the proper places. Material enclosed in brackets has been taken from the death records in the office of the town clerk, and care has been taken to give the exact spellings of names and the exact dates as found in the town records, although the exact forms of the entries have not been reproduced. These death records kept by the town begin in 1857, but for a number of years they are not complete. Since 1903 they consist of the official reports of the attending physicians, bound in annual volumes. Statements in footnotes signed M.L.S. are given on the authority of Mr. Merritt L. Start, who has been superintendent of the cemetery grounds since 1883. Statements in other footnotes are made by the contributor.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

HERALDRY.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.—On Thursday, 18 Mar. 1920, the New England Historic Genealogical Society celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of its incorporation. The Society was organized in Boston in the autumn of 1844, but the act of the Massachusetts Legislature making Charles Ewer, J. Wingate Thornton, Joseph Willard, and their associates and successors, "a corporation, by the name of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, for the purpose of collecting, preserving, and occasionally publishing, genealogical and historical matter, relating to early New England families, and for the establishment and maintenance of a cabinet," was approved by His Excellency George N. Briggs, Governor of the Commonwealth, on 18 Mar. 1845.

The arrangements for the celebration had been placed, by a vote of the Council of 7 May 1919, in charge of the Committee on Papers and Essays, consisting of John McKinstry Merriam, A.M., of Framingham, Chairman, Alfred Johnson, A.M., Litt.D., of Brookline, Miss Mary St. Barbe Eustis of Brookline, Mrs. Arthur White Tedcastle of Milton, Mrs. David Floyd of Winthrop, Mrs. Joseph Curtis Howes of Allston, and Miss Josephine Elizabeth Rayne of Cambridge; and this committee appointed a special reception committee, comprising Mrs. Arthur White Tedcastle of Milton, Chairman, Mrs. George Minot Baker of Concord, Mrs. Frank Dexter Ellison of Belmont, Mrs. John Fremont Hill of Boston, Mrs. William Leander McKee of Boston, and Mrs. Ernest Henry Wheeler of Augusta, Me. The programme planned by these two committees included a reception to members of the Society and their friends and to invited guests in the Society's building, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, from two until six o'clock in the afternoon, and appropriate addresses, followed by a social hour, in the neighboring Ford Hall in the evening.

In the weeks immediately preceding the celebration the interior of the Society's building, which was erected in 1912 and was dedicated on 18 Mar. 1913, was repainted, attractive panelling was placed on the walls of the entrance corridor and the main stairway, the entrances to several of the memorial rooms in the building were marked by artistically wrought, perforated, swinging bronze signs, the numerous oil portraits owned by the Society were cleaned and renovated, and these portraits, with many rare prints, were hung in appropriate places in the Library, the offices, and the corridors.

The many who visited the Society's building in the afternoon were received in the corridors and in the several rooms by officers and members who had been requested to act as ushers and guides, and the history of the Society, its growth, aims, and prospects, and its valuable collections were described. Those who helped in this way to welcome members and guests were Messrs. John Carroll Chase, Albert Henry Lamson, George Andrews Moriarty, Jr., George Lambert Gould, William Prescott Greenlaw, Henry Edwards Scott, Thornton Kirkland Lothrop, Jr., Frank Ernest Woodward, James Parker Parmenter, Hosea Starr Ballou, William Ogilvie Comstock, Charles Knowles Bolton, Nathaniel Thayer Kidder, William Churchill Briggs, Edmund Ingersoll Leeds, John Henry Edmonds, Eben Francis Thompson, Walter Kendall Watkins, and George Sawin Stewart, and Miss Mary St. Barbe Eustis, Mrs. Frank Ellsworth Randall, and Mrs. Mary Lovering Holman. An orchestra, stationed at the foot of the main stairway, played while the reception was in progress. The ladies of the reception committee greeted the members and guests in Wilder Hall, and refreshments were served in the tea room across the corridor, those who poured for the various hours being Mrs. George Bicknell Ager of Wellesley Hills, Mrs. Charles Knowles Bolton of Brookline, Mrs. John Edward Kincaid of Sherborn, Miss Jennie Glover Moseley of Dorchester, Miss Jennie Wallace of Boston, and Mrs. William Francis Warden of Paris. These ladies were assisted by Mrs. Wallace Osgood Fenn of Brookline, Miss Miriam Gould of Topsfield, and several other young ladies.

In the evening members of the Society and invited guests (including representatives of historical societies, colleges, and libraries) assembled in Ford Hall for the literary exercises. The ushers were Charles Francis Dorr Belden, James Melville Hunnewell, and William Truman Aldrich of Boston, Joseph Gardner Bartlett and Lawrence Brainerd of Cambridge, Edward Holmes Kittredge of Arlington, Joseph Harvey White of Chestnut Hill, Everett Jefts Beede of Belmont, and Charles Eliot Goodspeed of Wollaston. Hon. James Phinney Baxter, President of the Society, occupied the chair, and on the platform with him were the chaplain and orator of the evening, the vice-presidents, executive officers, and councillors of the Society, the chairman of the Committee on Papers and Essays, and the ladies of the reception committee. The exercises began at eight o'clock with music by the orchestra, after which prayer was offered by Rev. A. Z. Conrad, D.D., of the Park Street Church, Boston. The Recording Secretary then read three letters, selected from the numerous letters of regret and congratulation received by the Committee on Papers and Essays. They were from the President and Mrs. Wilson, President Hadley of Yale University, and Col. W. Gordon McCabe, President of the Virginia Historical Society. His Excellency Calvin Coolidge, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, who is an honorary member of the Society, had been specially invited to be present and to bring the greetings of the Commonwealth, but he was unable to attend the exercises, and his letter of regret was read by the Chairman of the Committee on Papers and Essays. In this letter the Governor wrote: "I congratulate your society upon its seventy-five years of service, and wish to express to its members the appreciation of the Commonwealth for the contribution they have made to the glorious traditions of Massachusetts. I hope at each succeeding anniversary that you will have grown in value to the State and to the United States as you have during the time you are just now completing. My very best wishes go to each and every one of you." President Baxter then delivered an address, in which he called attention to the fact that the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Society came in the same year with the tercentenary of the Landing of the Pilgrims, spoke of the importance in American history of the Pilgrim and Puritan settlers of New England, and advocated the erection of a memorial building, or Temple of Honor, which would not only commemorate the Founders of New England but also exert on the uninstructed masses of our varied population an educational influence of incalculable worth.* He then introduced, as the principal speaker of the evening, Rev. Lemuel Herbert Murlin, D.D., LL.D., President of Boston University, who, in a vigorous, lively, and thoughtful address entitled The Pilgrim Republic and the New Republics in Europe, declared that the numerous republics that have been proclaimed in Europe as a result of the World War owe their inspiration to the Pilgrim Republic, and that America, being in a sense responsible for the creation of these republics, should stand by them, try to protect them from the effects of their own political inexperience, and, above all, help to avert from them the terrible menace of famine. The United States, having helped to extinguish the conflagration of war, should not desert Europe in the critical period of reconstruction that is now at hand. After the conclusion of Dr. Murlin's illuminating and stimulating address the audience, led by the orchestra, rose and sang "America," and then, at the invitation of the President, repaired to Kingsley Hall, on the floor below, where refreshments were served and a delightful social hour was enjoyed. Thus closed a most successful celebration, which served not only to recall to those who participated in it the important work of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in the three-quarters of a century of its existence and to make clear its unequalled equipment for future service, but also to commemorate the dauntless "band of exiles" who laid the foundations, three hundred years ago, of the American Republic.

The Genealogical Record Office, Alexander Graham Bell, Director, 1601 35th St., Washington, D. C., will be glad to receive information concerning all authentic cases of persons now living who are more than 90 years of age. The data should include the date of birth of the individual, the age at which his or her parents died, and the number of children and ages of his or her children and direct descendants.

Owing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer which satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has become impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is it practicable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the Society, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, however, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert services of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and photographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. Inquirers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are given below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.

MAJ. HENRY LEE HIGGINSON, A.M., LL.D.

By Thornton Kirkland Lothrop, Jr., A.B., of Boston, Mass.

Henry Lee Higginson, although he held no public office, has for many years been referred to as the first citizen of Boston. In his death, 14 November 1919, the community suffered a great loss, as well as Harvard University and the Boston Symphony Orchestra and all the other things in which he was interested. The New England Historic Genealogical Society was very fortunate in obtaining him as one of the early members of the Pilgrim Tercentenary movement, which began last year and is still going on, and also in getting his firm, Lee, Higginson & Company, to act as depository for the fund thus raised. It especially mourns his loss, before this membership was completed and just before the year which commemorates the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, three hundred years ago, had begun.*

Major Higginson was a man of action rather than of words, and this, quite as much as the ever present scar received in action during the Civil War, was the reason why he was so constantly referred to by his military title, which he gained through service in the Volunteer Army of the United States during that momentous conflict.

Although I have referred to him as a man of action, I must not be misunderstood as meaning that he was a man of action only. He had a great intellect and a large heart as well as a powerful memory. He was noticeable for having ideals and cherishing them, and bringing them with his ripening years to a full fruition. He could see ahead clearly, plan in great detail, and had a fortunate use of words to explain both what he thought of value in the past and what he had schemed for the future.

He was born in New York City 18 November 1834, the son of George and Mary Cabot (Lee) Higginson. His parents were, however, of New England stock, and shortly after his birth they returned to Boston, where he was brought up, and where he spent most of his life. Besides the Higginsons he was descended from the Jacksons, Lees, Cabots, and other prominent families. It would be going beyond the scope of this article to go into a detailed examination of the characteristics of these various families and determine how much each affected Major Higginson's thoughts and actions at the various phases of his career. Suffice it to say that, just as the many intermarriages of the Cabots, for instance, with the Sewalls, and Lowells, and Eliots, and other families, have had an effect on various members and branches of the Cabot family and fitted them more for judicial, legislative, and administrative service, whilst at the same time they continued to retain their pronounced Cabotic characteristics of easy excellence in whatever they did and constant ability to keep on doing something all the time, so the Higginsons have shown all along the pronounced characteristics of having ideas and thoughts of their own, ability to express them well, courage to do so publicly under all circumstances, and a certain strength of purpose to cling to them until they were fulfilled. These characteristics Major Higginson had to a marked degree, and they were undoubtedly helped, both in the directions they took and in the success he obtained in carrying them out, by the characters of the other New England families from whom he was descended and with whom he largely associated.

Major Higginson was descended from Rev. Francis Higginson, who was born in England in 1588 and graduated at Cambridge University. He had ideas of his own and therefore was obliged to leave England, and he arrived in New England on the Talbot in 1629. He settled in Salem, and died there in August of the following year, 1630. His son John was born in England in 1616, and came over with his father. He was more or less in other parts of New England, but spent most of his life in Salem, where he died 9 December 1708. The family continued largely in Salem during the Colonial period. Stephen Higginson was born there 28 November 1743, but later moved to Boston, and died in Boston 22 November 1828. One grandson of his was Thomas Wentworth Higginson, noted for his opposition to the extension and continuation of slavery in the United States, which he was able to help in abolishing by active military service in the Federal Army during the Civil War, and noted afterwards as an historian.

Another grandson of this Stephen Higginson was George Higginson, who married Mary Cabot Lee and moved to New York, where Henry Lee Higginson was born. His older brother was named George after his father, and his two younger brothers were named James Jackson and Francis Lee. His only sister was Mary, who married Mr. S. Parkman Blake. George, the father, shortly returned to Boston, where Henry Lee Higginson was brought up, attended the Boston Latin School, and entered Harvard College in 1851. He only stayed at Harvard a scant year, as trouble with his eyes made it impossible to continue there longer; but during that year, as well as during the previous years at the Latin School, he formed many friendships which lasted through the rest of his life and affected it to a certain degree. It was here that he showed athletic prowess on the football field, in those days more like the Bloody Monday rush of later years than the organized game now called football. Athletic ability and muscular strength were always with him, although hampered of course by the severe wounds which he suffered in the Civil War. In later years he was, like Gladstone, very fond of taking his exercise in cutting down trees, and near his eightieth birthday I have known him to go to New Haven in a day coach and walk to the Yale football field, and return the same way.

After leaving Harvard College Mr. Higginson took a short trip abroad, and when he returned continued his education in a duller way, by filling a place at Samuel and Edward Austin's counting-house. Here he stayed a year and a half or a little more, and then went abroad once more with several of his best friends. They returned, but he stayed on the other side to study music. This, the greatest pleasure of his life, he pursued for three years, mostly in Vienna, and with some of the most famous teachers; but his eyes gave out again, this time more seriously, and in November 1860 he returned to Boston. He stated then that he would be glad to live in Boston, if he could only find something to do, and very shortly there was plenty for him to do. In March 1861 Abraham Lincoln was inaugurated as President of the United States, and in April Fort Sumter was fired on and the Civil War had begun.

Full of enthusiasm and animated with a strong sense of duty both to his country and to the antislavery cause, Mr. Higginson was among the first to volunteer. He helped Col. (then Capt.) James Savage recruit Co. D, in the Second Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers, and on 21 May 1861 was commissioned second lieutenant and on 8 July first lieutenant with the same company. The regiment after a while was sent to the front, reporting to General Patterson at Martinsburg, Va. He did not stay with it long, however, but was sent North for more recruiting and drilling, although in a slightly different line. About 1 November 1861 he was commissioned captain in the First Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Cavalry. It was first stationed at Readville, Mass., but later was sent to Maryland, South Carolina, and then Virginia, remaining all the while with the Army of the Potomac. On 28 March 1862 he was commissioned major and given active charge of a battalion in this regiment. On 17 June 1863, at the Battle of Aldie, in Virginia, he was severely wounded in three or more places. The effects of these wounds he bore through life, and it is wonderful how much he accomplished in despite of them. For a detailed account of the action as affecting Major Higginson I refer the reader to Mr. J. T. Morse, Jr's., admirable article in The Harvard Graduates' Magazine for March 1920.

From Aldie Major Higginson was sent to stations and hospitals until he finally reached Washington and then Boston. Recovery was very slow, but it had its advantages, as it was then that he married Miss Ida Agassiz. She was a daughter of Professor Louis Agassiz and a sister of Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw and of Alexander Agassiz. She was a constant help and encouragement to him through life, and gave him an additional group of relatives and friends, who increased his already wide horizon. Despite this he was itching to get back to the army, and in July 1864 he obtained a new position as aide on General Barlow's staff. The work was too severe for him, however, and he then tried to get employment in the Reserve Corps. Failing in this, he was honorably discharged in September 1864.

In January 1865 Major Higginson started in civil life once more. After experimenting with the agency of an oil company in Ohio and, with his friend and companion soldier, Col. Charles F. Morse, and others, in the sea-island cotton business in Georgia, he found a place waiting for him at home with Lee, Higginson & Company, where he stayed the rest of his life. They already had a good business, and it grew rapidly after he became a partner. Copper mines, western railroads, and other industries of this growing country, in which he and his relatives had interests, blossomed marvellously as the result of their practical energy, and the business of the firm grew with them.

Soon Major Higginson decided that he could well devote his time and money to something else besides his business, and in 1881 he started the Boston Symphony Orchestra. This put the best music before the music lovers of Greater Boston for more than half the year, and let the inhabitants of many other cities know some of the advantages of living here. He paid all the losses, calculated at nine hundred thousand dollars by 1912 and at about a million and a quarter dollars in all. He undoubtedly paid many other things which never got on the books at all. He also gave much time and thought to the orchestra, and made no end of trips to Europe to get the best conductors and musicians. His control and influence over the men were remarkable, and he never allowed them to join any musicians' union or other organization of that kind which might prevent the employment of the best talent available. When the United States entered the World War the conductor was arrested as a spy and imprisoned for the rest of the War, and this was a very sad blow to Major Higginson.

His connection with Harvard College was the only other thing as strong as his love for his orchestra. His only degree there was the honorary degree of Master of Arts in 1882, although he received the degree of Doctor of Laws from Yale in 1901 and from Williams in 1912. But he served as a member of the Corporation of Harvard College for twenty-six years, from the time of his appointment in 1893 until the day of his death. President Eliot has stated that during all those years he was noted for the "utmost punctuality, assiduity, devotion, and high intelligence," and President Lowell has confirmed this opinion. He was recognized the world over among Harvard men for two great gifts to the University, Soldiers Field in 1890 and the Harvard Union in 1899. To these might be added a third, not thought of so much, perhaps, but almost equally appreciated, the playing of the Symphony Orchestra, ever since its foundation, in Sanders Theatre.

Henry Lee Higginson is gone, and as a patriot, soldier, citizen, and Harvard man there is no one at present to take his place.

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND

Gifford–Sargent

Contributed by G. Andrews Moriarty, Jr., A.M., LL.B., of Newport, R. I., and communicated by the Committee on English Research

It is not often that the Committee on English Research is able to present an ancestral line of a New England immigrant that reaches back into the early Middle Ages, and consequently it is with great pleasure that it communicates to the Register records proving the descent of Margaret Gifford, wife of Hugh Sargent of Courteenhall, co. Northampton, and grandmother of William Sargent, one of the early settlers of Malden, Mass., from John Gifford le Boef of Twyford, co. Bucks, in 1277. The records will be followed by a pedigree, in which the facts derived from them and from various authorities will be set forth in the usual genealogical form.

From Inquisitions Ad Quod Damnum and Inquisitions Post Mortem*

Inquisition taken at Hertaye [?] by Faversham, co. Kent, 29 December, 34 Edward III [1360]. The jurors say that it is not to the damage or prejudice of the King or others if the King grants to John Giffard permission to enfeoff Robert, parson of Somerton church, and Richard Mallet, chaplain, with 5 marks rent in Leisdon, they to grant the same to Thomas, son of the said John, and Elizabeth de Musenden, and their issue, with remainder in default to the right heirs of John. The said rent is held of the King in chief by knight service, as parcel of the barony of Arsyk. No other lands, etc., remain to the said John in this county.

Inquisition taken at Ixning, co. Suffolk, 20 December, 34 Edward III [1360]. It is likewise not to the prejudice, etc., if John Giffard, Chivaler, assign the manor of Ixning to the said feoffees to grant to the said Thomas and Elizabeth and their issue, etc., as above. John has no other lands, etc., in this county.

Inquisition taken at Oxford, 23 December, 34 Edward III [1360]. It is likewise not to the prejudice, etc., if John Giffard assign to the same feoffees his manors of Somerton and Feringford, co. Oxon, with 30s. rent in Cogges, co. Oxon, to grant the same manors to the said John and Lucy his wife, for the term of their lives, with remainder to their son Thomas and his issue, and, in default, to the right heirs of John, and the rent to Thomas and Elizabeth de Mussendon and their issue, which otherwise ought to revert to John, eldest son of the said John, by which the King ought to have the relief as it falls due. John has no other lands, etc., in the said county. (Inquisitions Ad Quod Damnum, Chancery Series, file 336, no. 18.)

Inquisition taken at Dadyngton, co. Oxford, 4 January, 41 Edward III [1367/8]. Roger died on Sunday next after Easter last past [1409], and Thomas Giffard is his son and heir, aged one year and more. (Ib., Henry IV, file 71, no. 19.)

Inquisition taken at Wodestoke, co. Oxford, on the Feast of St. Luke the Evangelist, 8 Henry VI [18 October 1429]. The jurors say that Sybil [Giffard], who was the wife of Thomas Giffard of Twyford, Knight, held no lands, etc., in her demesne as of fee, but that William de Hampton, parson of the church of Hynton, Richard de Cudlyngton, parson of Crowelton, William Gardyner, parson of Somerton, and John de Bedeford, clerk, were seised of the manor of Feringford and by letters patent, dated 6 July, 7 Richard II [1383], had licence of the King to give the same to Sir Thomas Giffard, Knight, and Sybil, then his wife, for their lives, with remainder to Roger, son of the said Thomas, and Joan his wife, daughter of Baldwin de Bereford, Knight, and the issue of Roger and Joan, with contingent remainders, in default of such issue, to John, brother of Roger, and his issue, to their brothers Thomas and William and their issue, and to the right heirs of Sir Thomas.

Afterwards Sir Thomas died, and Joan, wife of Roger, died without issue, and John, Thomas, and William, brothers of Roger, died without issue. Roger was also seised of the manor of Somerton, with the advowson of the same, and by licence in letters patent, dated 21 July, 19 Richard II [1395], sold the same to Sybil for life, with reversion to him and his heirs; and afterwards Roger married Isabel Stretele and had issue Thomas, now surviving.

Roger died on the Sunday after Easter, 10 Henry IV [1409], and the said manor descends to Thomas, son of Roger, within age and in the custody of the King.

Sybil died 26 February last past [1428/9], and the manor of Feringford ought to remain to Thomas, son of Roger, as next of kin of Sir Thomas.

By letters patent, dated 1 October, 11 Henry IV [1409], the King granted to William Lord de Roos of Hamlak the custody of all lands, etc., which were the said Roger's, during the minority of Roger's heir, and he has the same until the full age of the said heir as well as the marriage of the said heir.

The said manor of Feringford is held of the King in chief and is worth yearly 100s. The manor and advowson of Somerton are held of the King in chief, as of his castle of Dover, by fealty and ward of the Castle, and the same are worth £6. 4s.

The said Thomas, son of Roger, is son and heir of Roger and is aged twenty-one years and more. And a certain Eleanor is daughter and heir of Sybil and is aged twenty-three years and more. (Ib, Henry VI, file 45, no. 36.)

Proof of age of THOMAS GIFFARD, son and heir of Roger and next of kin to Sir Thomas Giffard, Knight.

Proof of age of said Thomas, son of Roger, son of Sir Thomas, taken at Byceter, co. Oxford, on Saturday, on the Morrow of Hilary, 8 Henry VI [14 January 1429/30].

John Cornewayll, aged sixty, says that Thomas was born at Feryngford, and was baptized in the church of that vill, and was aged twenty-one years on the Feast of St. Thomas the Martyr last past [29 December 1429]; and he knows this, because he saw Sybil, who was the wife of Sir Roger [sic] Giffard, Knight, give the said Thomas a gilt cup when the said Thomas was baptized.

John Togood, aged forty-four, says likewise, and remembers the same, because he was then in the service of Sir Thomas Giffard, Chivaler, and rode with him from the vill of Twyford to the church of Feryngford, where Thomas was baptized.

[Ten others give evidence, all agreeing as to the date, but they add nothing further of interest.] (Ib., Henry VI, file 46, no. 44.)

Inquisition taken at Dadyngton, co. Oxford, on Friday next before the Feast of All Saints,* 9 Edward IV [1469]. The jurors say that THOMAS GIFFARD, Esq., held no lands, etc., in his demesne of the King or others in the said county the day he died.

He died 29 May last past [1469], and John Gifford, Esq., is his son and heir, aged thirty-eight years and more. (Ib., Edward IV, file 31, no. 15.)

Inquisition taken at Thame [co. Oxon], 10 November, 3 Henry VIII [1511]. The jurors say that JOHN [sic] GIFFORD was seised of 4 messuages and 7 virgates of land in Fryngford in his demesne as of fee, and, thus being seised, 24 November, 3 Henry VII [1487], by deed granted the same to himself and his wife Joan and his heirs. Thomas Fowler, Richard Danvers, William Danvers, and Richard More were seised of 4 messuages, 4 tofts, 40 acres of land, 100 acres of meadow, 200 acres of pasture and 20s. rent in Newenton Jewell and Begbroke, and on 26 November, 3 Henry VII [1487], granted the same to the said Thomas and Joan his wife and the heirs of Thomas. The said Thomas was seised of 3 messuages, 4 cottages, 100 acres of land, 50 acres of meadow, and 40 acres of pasture in Fryngford and Cogges and the moiety of the advowson of Fryngford church, and died seised thereof.

The 4 messuages and 7 virgates in Fryngford are worth yearly 5 marks, the 3 messuages and advowson, etc., 64s., and the premises in Newenton Jewell and Begbroke £10.

Thomas died 10 October last past [1511], and Thomas Gyfford is his son and heir, aged thirty years and more. Joan, wife of Thomas, deceased, survives him. (Inquisitions Post Mortem, Chancery Series 2, file 26, no. 24.)

Inquisition taken at Buckingham, 22 November, 35 Henry VIII [1543]. The jurors say that ROGER GIFFORD, Esq., held a tenement and lands in Padbury and bequeathed the same to Mary Gifford his wife. He also held a messuage and lands in Botyl-Cleydon.

Roger died 23 January, 34 Henry VIII [1542/3], and John Giffard, Esq., is his son and heir, aged fifty years and more. (Ib., vol. 69, no. 167.)

Inquisition taken at Oxford, 7 April, 5 Edward VII [1551]. The jurors say that Thomas Gyfford, Esq., before his death, was seised in his demesne, as of fee tail, of the moiety of a manor in Fryngford and of the advowson of that parish church and also of 7 messuages, 4 cottages, 500 acres of land, 300 acres of pasture, 200 acres of meadow, 40 acres of wood, 300 acres of furze and heath, and 8s. free rent in Fryngford. He was likewise seised in fee tail, to him and his issue, of another manor in South Newenton als Newnton Juell, co. Oxon, and of and in 4 messuages, 100 acres of land, 60 acres of pasture, 20 acres of meadow, and 6d. rent in Newnton; also of 4 messuages, 140 acres of land, 100 acres of pasture, and 20 acres of meadow in Begbroke, co. Oxon, and in two separate closes in Cogges, containing 6 acres in the tenure of Thomas Bowell.

*The Feast of All Saints falls on 1 November.

He died 25 November, 4 Edward VI [1550], and his lands, etc., ought and do descend to Ursula Waynman, wife of Thomas Waynman, Esq., only daughter of said Thomas Gifford, aged forty years and more.

The moiety of the manor in Fryngford is held of the King in chief by the service of a knight's fee, and is worth yearly £12. 1s. 8d. The manor, etc., in Newnton are worth yearly £5. 12s. 6d., the jurors do not know of whom held; the premises in Begbroke are held of Henry Duke of Suffolk by fealty and suit of court and an annual rent of 6d., and are worth yearly £4. 15s. 1d. And the closes in Cogges are worth yearly 12s., of whom held the jurors know not. (Ib., file 94, no. 44.)

Inquisition taken at [torn] [co. Northampton], 8 April, 5 Elizabeth [1563]. The jurors say that Nicholas Gifford, Esq., was seised of the house and site of the late monastery of St. James by Northampton, now dissolved, and of wood called the Great Grove in a street called St. James in the parish of Duston by Northampton, and of the water mill and other places [names given] late belonging to the said monastery. He was also seised of an annual fair called St. James Fair, held in the Fayre yard in a Street called St. James End at the Abbey Street in Duston, all of which was granted to him and his heirs by letters patent dated 12 September, 37 Henry VIII [1545]. He was seised in tail male of 1 acre of meadow in Duston called the Nethermede and of other lands [names given]. So being seised, on 16 May, 38 Henry VIII [1546], he made his will, bequeathing a third part of his land to the King during the minority of his son and the other two parts to his wife Anne for her and her children.

He died at Duston 19 May, 38 Henry VIII [1546]. Roger Gyfford is his son and heir, aged eighteen years, three months, a minor.

Anne Gyfford, widow, has taken the profits of two-thirds of the lands, according to the said will. (Ib., vol. 135, no. 50.)

Inquisition taken at Northampton, 17 January, 34 Elizabeth [1591/2], before the King's escheator there. The jurors say that Roger Giffard, Gent., on the day of his death, was seised in his demesne as of fee of and in the whole house or site of the late monastery of St. James by Northampton, and of and in a grove of wood called the Great Grove, containing about 10 acres, in a street called St. James End, in the parish of Duston, co. year in the said curtilage and in St. James End, als Abbey Street, and in the King's ways and lands adjacent, that is, from the west corner of the great barn to a bridge called the Free Bridge in the parish of Duston, together with the tolls, etc., of that fair and in the court of piepowder held yearly in the sd fair. He held 1 acre of meadow in the field called the Abbot's Meadow, in the parish of Duston, parcel of the possessions of the Master and Confraternity of the Hospital of St. John the Baptist in Northampton, and 2 acres of land lying in the Netherfield and the Westolle Meade in the fields of Duston, late parcel of the possessions of Thomas Palmer, deceased, and 2 roods of meadow and 1 rood of land in the Westolle Meadow in Duston Parish, and a parcel of land called Throughland, lying above Hills Furlong in the said Westolle. ## HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

HERALDRY.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Colby.—Anthony, born in England (perhaps at Beccles, co. Suffolk) circa 1580–1590, died at Amesbury (then a part of Salisbury), Mass., in 1661, by Roscoe E. Colby, 14 State Street, Lawrence, Mass.

Wright.—Richard, born in London, England, in 1608, died at Plympton (then a part of Plymouth), Mass., 19 June 1691, by Eugene A. Wright, Plympton, Mass.

Owing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England storic Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer ich satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has come impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is practicable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the ciety, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, wever, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert vices of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and otographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. quirers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are en below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.

HON. SAMUEL ABBOTT GREEN, A.M., M.D., LL.D.

By G. Andrews Moriarty, Jr., A. M., LL. B., of Newport, R. I.

By the death of Dr. Samuel Abbott Green, which occurred in Boston 5 December 1918, the New England Historic Genealogical Society lost its oldest active member, as indicated by duration of membership, for he was elected a resident member of the Society 2 June 1858 and was transferred to life membership in 1870.

On both his father's and his mother's side Dr. Green descended from old Massachusetts stock. His immigrant ancestors of the Green family, Percival[1] and Ellen Green, came to New England in the Susan and Ellen in 1635, each aged thirty-two years, and settled at Cambridge. Their son, John[2] Green of Cambridge, who was born in June 1636 and died 3 March 1690/1, married Ruth, daughter of Edward Mitchelson, marshal general of the Colony, and succeeded his father-in-law in this office. John Green's son, Rev. Joseph[3] Green, who was born 24 November 1675 and died 26 November 1715, was graduated at Harvard in 1695, married Elizabeth, daughter of Rev. Joseph Gerrish of Wenham, Mass., and was long settled over the church at Salem Village, now Danvers, Mass. His son, Joseph,[4] who was born 12 December 1703 and died 1 July 1765, was a Boston merchant, resided on Hanover Street, and upheld the Colonists in their incipient disputes with the mother country. He married Anna, daughter of Joshua Peirce of Portsmouth, N. H. Their son, Joshua[5] Green, born 17 May 1731, was graduated at Harvard in 1749, and married Hannah, daughter of Ebenezer Storer. He, too, was a merchant, and in later life removed to Wendell, Mass., the home of his only son, where he died 25 July 1806. This only son, Joshua,[6] who was born in Boston 5 October 1764 and died at Wendell 16 June 1847, was graduated at Harvard in 1784, resided in Wendell, and was a judge of the County Court. His first wife was Mary, daughter of David Moseley of Westfield, Mass. Their son, Joshua[7] Green, was born at Wendell 8 October 1797, was graduated at Harvard in 1818, took the degree of Doctor of Medicine at Harvard in 1821, and settled in 1825 at Groton, Mass., where he had married, in 1824, Eliza Lawrence, daughter of Maj. Samuel and Susanna (Parker) of Groton. He was elected a corresponding member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society 11 July 1849, and died at Morristown, N. J., at the home of his daughter, 5 June 1875. In Groton, on 16 March 1830, Samuel Abbott[8] Green, fourth son of Dr. Joshua and Eliza (Lawrence), was born.

His early boyhood was passed in his native town, for which he retained until his death a most devoted affection, showing constantly in a multitude of ways his love for the little New England hill town where he was accustomed to spend his summers. He became its faithful historian and a munificent benefactor of its institutions. He was prepared for college at the Lawrence Academy in Groton, entered Harvard in 1847, was graduated there with the Class of 1851, and received the degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Medicine from the same institution in 1854. He continued his professional studies in Paris, and, after spending four years abroad, began the practice of medicine in Boston.

Already in May 1858 Dr. Green had become surgeon in the Second Regiment of the Massachusetts Militia, and at the commencement of the Civil War he was one of the first to offer his services in behalf of his country. On 25 May 1861 he was commissioned assistant surgeon of the First Massachusetts Volunteers. In September of that year he was promoted to be surgeon of the Twenty-fourth Massachusetts Volunteers, and at intervals, up to November 1864, he served on the staffs of Generals Stevenson, Foster, Hawley, Terry, and Kautz. At the time of the Burnside expedition against Roanoke Island he was in charge of the hospital ship Recruit, in the spring of 1863 he had charge of the hospital steamer Cosmopolitan, on the coast of South Carolina, and during the siege of Fort Wagner he was chief medical officer at Morris Island. In October 1863 he was sent to Florida, and for six months was post surgeon at St. Augustine and Jacksonville. Later he was with General Butler at Bermuda Hundred. He was brevetted lieutenant colonel of Volunteers for gallant and distinguished services in the field during the campaign of 1864. From April to July 1865 he was acting staff surgeon at Richmond, Va., and on 8 July 1865 he resigned from the service.

Upon the close of the War he returned to Boston and engaged once more in the practice of his profession, but public life had a great attraction for him and he gave prodigally of his time and energy in behalf of the public welfare. For seven years he was superintendent of the Boston Dispensary and for nine years a member of the Boston School Committee. From 1868 to 1878 he was a trustee of the Boston Public Library, and served for one year as acting librarian. From 1871 to 1881 he was city physician, and in 1882 his splendid public spirit and ability were rewarded by his fellow citizens, who chose him mayor of Boston, at a time when such office was a coveted honor. From 1869 to 1880, and again from 1882 to 1900, he was an overseer of Harvard University. He also served on the State Board of Health, Lunacy, and Charity. In 1896 the University of Nashville conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dr. Green never married. As a physician he was unwearied in his labor and in his devotion to his noble profession, and his keen love of human nature and his sympathy for all mankind brought him closely into touch with all sorts and conditions of people, who deeply interested him. With his broad sympathies and democratic tastes he came to know all kinds of people, and his love for them was rewarded by their love for him. Indeed, the most characteristic things about Dr. Green were his wide sympathies, his broad vision, and his great fund of true kindness, which, although often hidden under a gruffness of manner, any reader of character could not fail to perceive and love. It was this human quality, this interest in all mankind, its struggles and aspirations, which made him truly admired and beloved by all who understood him.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of his life was his love of early New England history and especially of his native town of Groton, the Colonial history of which was enriched by numerous historical monographs from his pen, compiled with that painstaking accuracy that denoted a labor of love. He was librarian of the Massachusetts Historical Society from 1868 until his death, and his later years were given exclusively to his work there. During these years he was the principal figure at the Society's rooms, where he ruled as a beneficent despot, and his picturesque and kindly personality permeated the entire atmosphere of that institution.

My personal acquaintance with Dr. Green dated from the last years of his life, when, after I had returned from a protracted stay abroad, our common interest in historical and genealogical matters drew us together. I discovered that in his youth Dr. Green had studied under my grandfather, the late Dr. John Moseley Moriarty, then port physician of Boston, and kindly recollections of my grandfather served me in good stead in winning my way into his good graces. I shall never forget going to call upon him at the building of the Massachusetts Historical Society one day in the early spring and finding him enthroned in state in his library. The Doctor's eyesight was somewhat impaired and he did not know me; consequently my reception was somewhat gruff and a little forbidding. Then suddenly he knew me. I shall never forget the change that passed over his face. It was like passing from an impending storm into full sunshine. "Come right here and sit down," he cried, and presently he had his whole staff running about to unearth his various monographs upon Groton, all of which he presented to me with his autograph, and we passed the entire afternoon delightfully discussing the early Colonial days. This little incident, I have always felt, was typical of his character—the external gruffness towards strangers, the keen human sympathy underneath, and the quick response to one who understood him. He is gone; and I always like to remember him as he was that afternoon, ruling over his library with a firm but kindly hand, and with a heart glowing with fine humanities and vital human interest.

Thomas Gyffard, by William Rokesburgh, his guardian, claims against John Stokes and Isabel his wife the manor of Heliden, with appurtenances, which Robert, late parson of the church of Somerton, and Richard Malet, chaplain, gave to John Gyffard of Twyford, Knight, and Lucy his wife for the lives of the same John and Lucy, and after the deaths of the same John and Lucy the same manor was to remain to Thomas, son of the said John, and Elizabeth his wife, and after the deaths of John, Lucy, Thomas, son of John, and Elizabeth, and of Roger, son and heir of the same Thomas, son of John, the same ought to descend to Thomas Gyffard aforesaid, son and heir of the said Roger. And the same John Gyffard and Lucy were seised thereof by the same grant in the time of Edward III, and after their deaths the same remained to Thomas, son of John, and Elizabeth his wife, and they were thereof seised, Elizabeth as tenant, and Thomas, son of John, as of fee and right in the time of Edward III. And from the same Thomas, son of John, after Elizabeth's death, the right descended to Roger, as his son and heir, and from him to Thomas, who now claims, as his son and heir. And thereof produces suit.

And John Stokes and Isabel, by William Salman, their attorney, come and cannot deny the same.

Therefore it is agreed that the aforesaid Thomas Giffard recover his seisin aganist John Stokes and Isabel of the aforesaid manor, and the said John Stokes and Isabel in mercy, etc. (De Banco Rolls, Northamptonshire, Trinity Term, 3 Henry V [1415], 618, m. 317.)

COL. JOHN BROWN'S EXPEDITION AGAINST TICONDEROGA AND DIAMOND ISLAND, 1777

Communicated by Capt. William Butler Clarke of Belmont, Mass.

To the Register of April 1872 (vol. 26, pages 147–152) Rev. B. F. DeCosta communicated an article entitled "The Fight at Diamond Island," in which he gave British accounts of the operations of Col. John Brown's command against Ticonderoga and Diamond Island in Sept. 1777 and also the text of two letters from Colonel Brown to General Lincoln describing his attack on these posts. Other letters relating to this expedition from Colonel Brown to General Lincoln and other officers and also letters from General Lincoln to Colonel Brown have been for several years in the possession of the contributor of the present article, who is a great-great-grandson of Colonel Brown, and they are given below, together with the text of the two letters from Colonel Brown which appeared in the Register in 1872, the convenience of having all these letters in print in one place justifying the reprinting of the two previously published. In his letter of 4 Oct. 1777 (vide infra) Colonel Brown states that he received orders from General Lincoln to make this expedition on 13 Sept. of that year, and the first letter printed below, dated on the day on which he received his orders, shows him already on the march.*

I find by my march thus far, that I shall be in Castletown tomorrow by 10 oclock P M. I have been favoured with good success in my Attempts upon the Enemy this way, as I heartily wish you may in your Department on the Mount. I took possession of the Landing here this Morning, & the Mills, & a block house near them, & Mount Defiance, as also the old french Lines on Ticonderoga side; & have sent in a flagg & demanded the immediate surrender of Ticonderoga & Mount Independence. I have not as yet heared what Success you may have had. The Number of Prisoners taken at these several places is as follows 12 British Commissioned officers viz 2 Captns. 7 Lieut. 2 Ensigns. 1 Commissary. Non Commissioned officers 1 Gentleman & privates 143 British. 119 Canadians. 18 Artificers, & retook more than 100 of our own Men total. 293. exclusive of our own Prisoners 150 Batteaus below the falls in Lake Champlain fell into my hands, as also 50 above the falls including 17 Gun Boats, & 1 armed Sloop. Our loss of Men in these several Actions is not more than 3 or 4 killed & 5 wounded the Enemys Loss is less still. I have taken Arms perhaps equal to the Number of Prisoners, & some Cannon & Ammunition. Your spirited Exertions will much facilitate my opperations on this side, as mine may be of Service to you on the other side. I am not without hope of those places being speedily in our possesion. If Recruits should not come in to the Enemy soon, I think there is some probability of so agreeable an Event. I am informed by an officer of ours retaken that a Rinforcemnt from Canada are on their Way. You will put wt. weight to this you think proper, I am sending of the Prisoners as fast as possible. have recved no Express from you.

Sir,

With great fatigue after marching all last night I arrived at this place at the break of day, and after the best disposition of the men, I could make, immediately began the attack, and in a few minutes, carried the place. I then without any loss of time detatched a considerable part of my men to the mills, where a greater number of the enemy were posted, who also were soon made prisoners, a small number of whom having taken possession of a block house in that Vicinity were with more difficulty bro't to submission; but at the sight of a Cannon they surrendered. during this season of success, Mount Defiance also fell into our hands. I have taken possession of the old french lines at Ticonderoga, and have sent a flag demanding the surrender of Ty: and mount independence in strong and peremptory terms. I have had as yet no information of the event of Colo. Johnsons attack on the mount. My loss of men in these several actions are not more than 3 or 4 killed and 5 wounded. the enemy's loss: is less. I find myself in possession of 293 prisoners. Vizt 2 captains, 9 subs. 2 Commissaries. non Commissioned officers and privates 143. British 119 Canadians, 18 artificers and retook more than 100 of our men. total 293, exclusive of the prisoners retaken.—The watercraft I have taken, is 150 batteaus below the falls on lake Champlain 50 above the falls including 17 gun boats and one armed sloop. arms equal to the number of prisoners. Some ammunition and many other things which I cannot now ascertain. I must not forget to mention a few Cannon which may be of great service to us. Tho: my success has hitherto answered my most sanguine expectations, I cannot promise myself great things, the events of war being so dubious in their nature, but shall do my best to distress the enemy all in my power, having regard to my retreat—There is but a small quantity of provisions at this place which I think will necessitate my retreat in case we do not carry Ty and independence—I hope you will use your utmost endeavor to give me assistance should I need in crossing the lake &c—The enemy but a very small force at fort George. Their boats are on an island about 14 miles from this guarded by six companies, having artillery—I have much fear with respect to the prisoners, being obliged to send them under a small guard—I am well informed that considerable reinforcements is hourly expected at the lake under command of Sir John Johnson—This minute received Genl. Powals answer to my demand in these words, "The garrison intrusted to my charge I shall defend to the last." Indeed I have little hopes of putting him to the necessity of giving it up unless by the force under Colonel Johnson.

Burgoyne's statement (ib., vol. 26, p. 149) and from other letters printed in the present article that "Sep 18th" is the correct date and that the reading "Sep 10th" was due to an error, probably either of the copyist or of the printer. Dear Genl.

Have not heard any thing from you this Several Days, Have reason to fear that our Communication is interupted. I am this moment informd by two Men express from the Officer commanding at the Narrows that at noon Yesterday he had received no intiligence from me—The Prisoners must have arrived at that Place before this—Have taken about 20 Prisoners since the First attack in three Boats from Fort George—I this Minute am advised that a large Number of tracks have been discovered this side of Crownpoint, perhaps to indeavour to surprise us, shall be better informed of this Matter very soon the Boats mentioned in my Letter of yesterday have fallen into my hands—Have this Morning sent off 160 Prisoners Shall indeavour to cross them to Genl Warner I have still on hand about 25 sick prisoners not able to be removed, while I am writing Express arrives from Genl. Warner with your advice for us to retreat by order Genl. Gates this is impracticable at present without the loss of Many Prisoners and a vast Quantity of Stores. I wrote you in my last that I should attack Ty at all Events, but on more Mature consideration think that the advantages of carying that Post with Independence will not compensate for the probible loss altho I am certain of carrying the Posts, indeed I begin to be censured by Officers and Men for not suffering them to make the attempt.

By intelligence from up the Lake I am sure that I shall have it in my Power to command this Lake. the Enemy have a Post at Dimond Islelandt [?] consisting of 3 Companies of German Troops, and almost all the Boats in the lake exclusive of those I have taken they have but little Provision and cannot be reinforced or supplyed from this Quarter Shall indeavour to set out tomorrow morning with a small Sloop Mounting 3 Carriage Guns 7 pounds. one Gun Boat with one Brass 18 Do. in her Bow and one other Boat Mounting one 7 Do. and about 400 Men in Boats I can Retreat much easier from 20 Miles up the Lake then from this Place do not mean however to abandon this Place unless necessitated to do it untill the Event of this Expedition is known—

I must not omit doing Justice to the Officers and Soldiers under my Command in the late attack never were Men more furious, and even fool hardy in the instance of attacking the Block house by which Means I lost several Men. Capt. Ebr. Allin of the Vermont Rangers with his Compy alone attacked mount Defiance supported by double his Number and previously advertized by my attack at this Place, and paraded on the top of the Mount on which was a Block House about half finished and every other advantage he ascended the precipice and drove them in 6 Minutes killing a Number and took 21 Prisoners Cannon &c &c the remainder got headlong down the mountain. Desire you by all Means to give me every Piece of Inteligence—

Wishing you Success

Skeensboro Friday 11 o'clock, a m. Sept. 26th 1777

Dear Sir

I this minute arrived at this place by the way of Fort Ann, was induced to take this rout on ac^t of my Ignorance of the situation of every part of the continental Army—

On the 22 inst at 4 o'clk P.M. I set sail from the north end Lake George with 20 sail of Boats three of which were armed, Viz one small sloop mounting 3 guns. and 2 British Gun Boats having on Board the whole about 420 Men officers included with a Determined resolution to attack Diamond Island which lies within 5 miles Fort George at the break of Day the next Morning, but a very heavy storm coming on prevented—I arrived Sabbath Day point abt midnight where I tarried all night, during which time I [sic] small Boat in the fleet taken the Day before coming from Fort George, conducted by one Ferry lately a sutler in our army, I put Ferry on his Parole, but in the night he found Means to escape with his Boat, and informed the Enemy of our approach, on the 23d I advanced as far as 12 Mile Island, the Wind continuing too high for an attack I suspended it untill the Morning of the 24th at 9 oclock at which Time I advanced with the 3 armed Boats in front and the other Boats, I ordered to wing to the Right and left of Island to attempt a landing if practicable, and to support the Gun Boats in case they should need assistance, I was induced to make this experiment to find the strength of the Island as also to carry it if practicable—the enemy gave me the first fire which I returned in good earnest, and advanced as nigh as I thought prudent, I soon found that the enemy had been advertised of our approach and well prepared for our reception having a great number of cannon well mounted with good Breast Works, I however approached within a small Distance giving the Enemy as hot a fire as in my Power, untill the sloop was hulled between wind and Water and obliged to toe her off and one of the boats so damaged as I was obliged to quit her in the action. I had two men killed two Mortally wounded and several others wounded in such Manner as I was obliged to leave them under the Care of the Inhabitants, who I had taken Prisoners giving them a sufficient reward for their services.

I Run my Boats up a Bay a considerable distance and burnt them with all the Baggage that was not portable—The Enemy have on Diamond Island as near as could be collected are about three hundred, and about 40 at Fort George with orders if they are attacked to retreat to the Island—Genl Borgoine has about 4 Weeks Provision with his army and no more, he is determined to cut his Road through to Albany at all events, for this

I have the last authority, still I think him under a small mistake—Most of the Horses and Cattle taken at Ty and thereabouts were left in the Woods. Genl Warner has put out a party in quest of them.

You will be so good when you arrive at Pawlet as to send a party of men consisting of two or three hundred with ten or twelve days provision (the bread they can carry the beef may be on foot) between Fort Edward and Fort George in order to cut off all communication between these posts and to harrass and distress the enemy you will appoint some person of known bravery, ability and experience to command them if there should not be a number sufficient at Pawlet you will please to send to General Bailey at Manchester requesting such aid from the militia there as you may need. if you should fail of succour there, you will send to the commanding officer at white creek for it. I will replace them by troops from Falls mils.—You will please to give the party instructions to cut off all communication between Fort Edward and Fort George. If in their power, prevent any supplies going to the enemy to harrass and distress them and report to General Gates every piece of information of importance which may come to their knowledge—

Permit me to present you the Continental Standard retaken at Ticonderoga on the 18th Ult. Please to Present my Compliments to those Gentlemen who in their hurry slipt off and forgot them,—hope never to have the like Occasion to present Them or your Honour with our own Colours; Should have done myself the honour to make this Presentation in Person when I had the honour of waiting on You, but conceived the Colours to have belonged to an armed Vessel until this Minute when upon Opening them find they are the Continental Standard, hope they may be flourished in your Camp and soon replaced in Ticonderoga

Agreeable to your desire I send your Honor the Particular Occurrences of my Expedition to the North End of Lake George

On the 13th of Septr receiv'd Orders from Genl. Lincoln to make this Expedition, On the 17th arrived on the Heights above the Landing near Mount Defiance where I made what Discoveries I could of the Situation of the Enemy at their several Posts at Ticonda, Independance and the Landing; At Daybreak the next Morning attacked the Enemy at the Landing and at Mt Defiance, I made such a Disposition at the Landing as intirely to invest the Enemy, so that not one Man Escaped, Two of our Officers were Wounded and several of the Enemy killed in this Attack but the Enemy were so surprized that they could make no Considerable Defence. Mount Defiance was at the same Time stormed by one Company of the Rangers under the Command of Capt Ebenr Allen consisting of 40 Men, the Post being defended by Double that Number was however carried in 6 Minutes without the loss of a Man killed or wounded on our Side, they had two killed and several Wounded and upwards of 20 taken Prisoners—Captn. Allen deserves Immortal Honor for his spirited Conduct in this Attack, being obliged to ascend a craggy Precipice under the Fire of the Enemy to make the Attempt. Immediately on carrying the Landing I detached a considerable Number of the Party to the Bridge who surprized the Enemy there, The Falls making such a Noise that they never heard the Attack at the Landing, the Party being reinforced by me Proceeded on to the Houses and Barn near Mr. Intoss, toward the French Lines where was a Considerable Number of our Prisoners and one Company of British Troops who were surprized in like Manner and taken Prisoners to a Man, We relieved in the whole of our own Prisoners at all the Posts 118 Who had been confined, fatigued and dejected to such a degree that one could scarcely conjecture what they were, They come out of their Holes and Cells with Wonder and Amazement, indeed the Transition was almost too much for them, I immediately armed them and changed the Tables with the Enemy, I found the French Lines undefended and but one Company in the old Fort, I immediately demanded a Surrendery of Ty. & Independance, but receiv'd a Manly denial from General Powel, I heard nothing from Colonel Johnson this Day, on the 19th I receiv'd an Express from the Colol, and found that his attempt on Independance was not made with a View to carry it, Indeed the Enemy have fortifyed Independance in such a Manner that by the block Houses and Redoubts which they have erected, together with their Shipping, they can cover and defend the whole of the Ground on Independce the Enemy have about 700 Men in the Mount 500 of which they can turn out on an Emergency, considering these Particulars, I thought it Proper not to advise to a Joint Attack of that Post, which I had in Contemplation before I discovered their true situation. The old Fort could have been carried by my Party but did not think that the Acquisition would have been a Compensation for the Probable loss, since if Independance was not carried this Post must have been soon evacuated

By the Boats that come in dayly from Fort George and Diamond Island, I found that the Island were not apprized of us and therefore determined that it was my Object rather than Ty I therefore after Canonading the old Fort a Considerable Time, from within the old french Lines and from mount defiance, from which with one Ball two Men within the Parade were killed, and after having destroyed all the Carriges and Boats except 20 in lake George and after having burnt most of the Stores about Ticonderoga and killed and sent off all the Cattle and Horses, on the 24th I imbarked for the Island, having 5 Cannon mounted on the small sloop and gun Boats, but an unluky Circumstance happened; One Terry lately a setler [sic] in our Army being a Prisoner, I suffered him to go at large on Parole but on my sailing from the landing I ordered Terry & his Associates on board the Gun Boats, unhappily an Officer coming on in the rear ordered Terry out of the Gun Boats into his own Boat and fall under his stern, altho this Officer had no bad intent in this Order yet it Proved our overthrow at the Island, for Night coming on with a great Storm Terry made his Escape to the Enemy which gave them sufficient Oppertunity to mount their Cannon and Prepare for our reception I however Proceeded and made the Attempt, but finding the Enemy too well Prepared was obliged to quit after two hours Engagement, in which the Enemy huld the sloop between wind and water in such Manner I was obliged to toe her off, one of the Gun Boats also being Wounded and many other Boats shattered to Pieces, I thought Proper to retreat and after having burnd all the boats on the East shore quit the Lake and got safely into Skeensboro', I left behind me in the whole killed and wounded ten Men—the Number of Prisoners on Parole shall transmit your honor very soon

Am Sr with the utmost respect

Your Honors most Obedient humble Servt,

26. Arthur Forrester[7] Devereux (George Humphrey,[6] Humphrey,[5] Burrill,[4] Humphrey,[3] Robert,[2] John[1]), born at Salem 27 Apr. 1836, died 14 Feb. 1906. He married in Boston, 24 Dec. 1859, Clara Anna Rich of Haverhill, born in East Boston 14 Nov. 1838, died 26 Feb. 1910, daughter of Zoeth and Phebe A. and a descendant of Gov. Thomas Prence of the Plymouth Colony and of Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower. He and his wife are buried in Spring Grove Cemetery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

He studied at Harvard and at West Point, when Robert E. Lee was instructor there, but he was not a graduate of either institution. He was captain of the Salem Light Infantry in 1857, and after the outbreak of the Civil War entered the service of the United States as captain of this company, which was known as the Salem Zouaves and formed Company J of the Eighth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. He was in command of this company, in the Eighth Regiment, from 18 Apr. to 1 Aug. 1861, and made a brilliant record in this capacity. The Eighth Regiment was mustered out, after its three months of service, on 1 Aug. 1861. Its colonel, Edward W. Hinks, was made colonel of the Nineteenth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, then being organized and drilled at Lynnfield, and Captain Devereux was commissioned as lieutenant colonel and assigned to this new regiment, 3 Aug. 1861. The regiment entrained at Lynnfield 28

Aug. 1861, and proceeded via Boston, Fall River, and New York to Washington, where it arrived at midnight on 30 Aug. With this regiment Lieutenant Colonel Devereux was in active service for nearly two years, participating, among other engagements, in the Battle of Ball's Bluff (Oct. 1861), the battles of the Peninsula campaign (1862), and the Battles of Antietam, where he was slightly wounded (17 Sept. 1862), Fredericksburg (Dec. 1862), and Gettysburg (1–3 July 1863). On the third day of the Battle of Gettysburg he led his regiment in the repulse of Pickett's Charge, and his regiment captured the battle flags of four Virginia regiments on that day. He had been commissioned a colonel on 1 May 1863, to date from 29 Nov. 1862, and after the Gettysburg campaign he was sent to Massachusetts on detached service, being absent from the front for several months. He resigned his commission on 27 Feb. 1864, and received his discharge from the service on 4 Mar. following. On 13 Mar. 1865 he was brevetted as brigadier general of Volunteers for gallant service during the War.

Colonel Devereux's portrait appears in Batchelder's great painting of the third day at Gettysburg and also in the picture of the Battle of Gettysburg in the grand stairway of the State House at Harrisburg, Pa., the repulse of Pickett's Charge being the scene presented in each of these paintings.* Several swords belonging to Colonel Devereux, including one presented to him by the city of Salem and one given to him by the city of Baltimore, Md., when he was in command there early in the Civil War, are now preserved in the Essex Institute at Salem, and a tablet to his memory, recounting his military services, was erected in 1911 by his comrades in arms in the Devereux tomb in the Broad Street Cemetery, Salem.

After the Civil War Colonel Devereux was for several years commandant of the National Soldiers' Home at Marion, Ind., and he served in the Ohio Legislature in 1882 and 1883. He was one of those receiving a special medal conferred by Congress for distinguished service, and for years was the only living officer to whom a monument was placed on the field of Gettysburg.

The name Cearley is variously spelled in the Colonial records of Massachusetts and Connecticut, and later in Virginia, where Edmund's great-grandfather, William, Sr., held a land patent in Lunenburg County in 1751, and in North Carolina, whither the family moved after the Revolution, as Carley, Carly, Cerly, Carlye, Cearley, Kerley, and Kearley. Lucretia Polk was sixth in descent from Robert and Magdalen (Tasker) (Porter) Polk, who emigrated to Maryland several years after the Restoration. Robert Polk was a captain in Colonel Porter's regiment, which served under Cromwell. His wife was the younger daughter of Colonel Tasker, a chancellor of Ireland, whose seat was Broomfield Castle, near Londonderry, which was left to her elder sister, Barbara. Colonel Tasker had another estate called Moneen, near the village of Strabane, Ire., which was left to Magdalen, and which in her will of 7 Apr. 1726, on file in Somerset Co., Md., she bequeathed to her youngest son, Joseph. In 1689 Robert Polk's name is given in a list of loyal subjects of Somerset Co., Md., who addressed a letter to King William and Queen Mary. His grandson, William Polk, moved to North Carolina about 1750, and the latter's four sons, Charles, Thomas, John, and Ezekiel, settled in the neighborhood of Charlotte, Mecklenburg Co., and were all officers in the Revolution. John Polk, who was the great-grandfather of Lucretia (Polk) Cearley, married Eleanor Shelby, daughter of Gen. Evan Shelby. He was a captain, and for his services in the Revolution received from the Assembly of North Carolina a section of land in Davidson Co., Tenn., then a county of North Carolina. His family moved to Tennessee, as did at different times those of all his brothers, and they became known as the "Tennessee Polks." President James Knox Polk and Bishop Leonidas Polk, the well-known Confederate general, were descendants of the Tennessee Polks.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Rev. Stephen Bachiler.—An interesting bit of information relating to the life of Rev. Stephen Bachiler before his emigration to New England may be found in the printed volumes of "Acts of the Privy Council," where, in the record of a meeting of the Council in the Star Chamber on 29 May 1593, the following entry occurs:

"A letter to the Lord Buishop of Winton, Mr Doctor Bilson and the rest:

"Whereas we perceave by your letters of the xxvijth of this presente moneth and the examinacions therewith sent, that Steven Bachiler, vicar of Wherwel in your Dioces, hath uttered in a sermon at Newbuiry verie lewd speeches tending sediciously to the derogacion of her Majesties government, and that you have examined and comitted him til farther direction from us in this behalf:

"Theis shalbe to praie and require your Lordship &c., to send the said Stephen Bachiler under safe custodie up hither to me the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury with such further matter and proof as hath sithenc fallen owt, to be proceded with acording the nature and quallitie of his offenc and the laws of this realm:

"So, not doubting of your care in the due performaunce hereof, etc."*

Few original references to Bachiler's early life in England have come down to us. In Winthrop's "History of New England," in the account of Bachiler's excommunication from the Hampton church, it is said that he "had suffered much at the hands of the bishops in England."† Thomas Prince, in his short account of Bachiler, said that "(From governor Winslow and captain Johnson we learn, that) he was an ancient minister in England; had been a man of fame in his day;" etc.‡

We know that Bachiler was presented, 17 July 1587, by William West, Lord de la Warr, to the vicarage of Wherwell in Hampshire, and that on 9 Aug. 1605 John Bate was made vicar there because of the "ejection of Stephen Bachiler."§ No record has been found of the date of this ejection.

Bachiler was still living at Wherwell in 1596 and in 1607. William Spencer of Cheriton, Hants, in his will, dated 14 Aug. 1596 and proved 20 Sept. 1596, appointed "Mr Stephen Bacheler, minister of Wherwell," one of his overseers and trustees,|| and Henry Shipton, a tanner of Shaw, Berkshire, in his will, undated but proved 24 Mar. 1606/7, left a legacy of forty shillings to "Mr Stephen Batcheler of Horell, co. Southton."¶ Bachiler does not appear on the Lay Subsidy Roll for Hampshire in 7 James I [1609–10], but in 1622 and 1629 he bought two properties in Newton Stacy, Hants, and his name appears on the Lay Subsidy Roll of 4 Charles I [1628–9] under Newton Stacy.

The New England sojourn of Stephen Bachiler lasted from 1632 to 1654. He was upwards of seventy when he landed in Boston from the William and Francis. He was more than ninety-three when he returned to England. His score of years here was embittered by strife. Nearly every year was marked by his revolt against the harsh and arbitrary rule of the Bay oligarchs. The same spirit of unrest and revolt was manifest in his early years. In 1593 he was but seven years out of Oxford, and he had been but six years vicar of the quiet little parish on the Test.

The year 1593 marked the close of the first chapter of Whitgift's persecution of the Puritans, in his struggle to enforce uniformity on the unwilling English Church. On 6 Apr. 1593 Barrowe and Greenwood had died on the scaffold for nonconformity. On 29 May, the very date of the order cited above, John Penry was executed for the same cause. Bachiler was summoned from his peaceful Hampshire vicarage for no idle jaunt to London. Danger, torture, perhaps death itself lurked behind Canterbury's vestments.

John Whitgift was an unfortunate successor in the primacy to Edmund Grindal, whose wise and gentle rule had recognized the spread of Puritanism in the Church of England. But Whitgift had the full approval of his royal mistress, who saw no merit but in force.

The vicar of Wherwell also had a strong majority of his diocesan superiors against him. Cooper, the bishop of Winchester, had prepared the first categorical answer to the Mar-Prelate pamphlets, whose author had just died on the scaffold. Bilson, the warden of Winchester School, was all for uniformity; in a few short years he was to be Cooper's successor. Martin Heton, the dean and the future bishop of Ely, was anti-Puritan. All but two or three of the canons were uniformists—among them Henry Cotton, soon to be bishop of Salisbury. Scant mercy could Bachiler expect from the stern Archbishop or from his own diocese.

Save for this mention, there is no record of the sermon at Newbury which had so roused the Archbishop and the Bishop. Nor do we know the result of Bachiler's visit to the Star Chamber. For forty years more he remained in Hampshire, preaching the Puritan doctrines. But both in England and in New England he fought, all his long life, against the arbitrary misuse of authority, both by the Lords Bishops and the Lords Brethren.

Historical Intelligence

Heraldry.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

Genealogies in Preparation.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Knowles.—Henry, born in England in 1609, died at Warwick, R. I., between 2 and 20 Jan. 1670/1, by Stanwood Knowles Bolton, 48 Allerton Street, Brookline, Mass.

Nelson.—Thomas, of Rowley, Mass., born in England, died (probably in England) not earlier than 6 Aug. 1648, by Mrs. Cora A. Turner-Hunt, 174 Oakland Avenue, Methuen, Mass.

ERRATUM

Vol. 74, p. 136, line 28, for Lovell read Lovett.

Owing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer which satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has become impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is it practicable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the Society, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, however, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert services of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and photographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. Inquirers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are given below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.
